DISNEY Channel's Movie Surfers Go Inside Flubber is a behind-the-scenes documentary about Disney's latest film, already a hit in America. Flubber was written and produced by John Hughes and is an updated version of Disney's 1961 classic, The Absent Minded Professor. It stars Robin Williams as a dizzy academic, Professor Brainard, who invents a miraculous, rubber-like goo – named flubber – which, when applied to any object, even human beings, enables them to fly.

The part wasn't written for Robin Williams – in the original film it was played by a somewhat out of character Fred MacMurray – but, as this programme shows, it could well have been.

Disney Channel, Sunday 8th at 4.30pm

A BRITISH TV premiere to look out for is Tower of Terror starring Steve Guttenberg as Buzzy Crocker, a reporter who has to decide if he has been fed a mischievous hoax or the scoop of a lifetime when an old woman claims she knows the answer to a 60-year-old mystery. On 31 October, 1939, five revellers entered a lift in a smart hotel, heading for a Hallowe'en bash on the top floor. When the doors opened, the lift was empty and the five were never seen again. True story or urban myth? Whatever, for Crocker and his niece (played by Kirsten Dunst), the best way of investigating is to re-enact that fateful lift ride ...

Disney Channel, Sunday 22nd at 6.00pm

AS THE long-suffering Debs in Men Behaving Badly, Leslie Ash knows all about bad housekeeping. But on Good Life this month, she presents The Good Housekeeping Show – filmed at the Good Housekeeping Institute in London. She'll also offer tips on food, fashion, health and beauty, including how to cook a romantic dinner without any hassle and how to undergo cosmetic surgery without going under the knife. Ash made her TV debut at the tender age of four, in a Fairy Liquid commercial. She was not the only talented performer in the Ash family, however, for her sister Debbie later became a member of the famous dance troupe Hot Gossip. Ash is married to the former footballer Lee Chapman, with whom she recently fronted an LWT series about London restaurants called Dinner Dates, so she is no stranger to the art of presenting. Granada Good Life, Mondays, Fridays at 11.00am, 5.00pm

IT WON'T come as a surprise if The Live 6 Show host Jenny Powell achieves her ambition of becoming a Nineties version of Cilla Black. The show celebrates its 60th edition on 5 February and Jenny is hoping her part in it will help change the image of women presenters as 'frilly bimbos'. 'It's the closest thing I've got to finding equal opportunities in presenting,' she says. 'And it's live, which there isn't much opportunity for, unless you get up at 3.00am for The Big Breakfast or do children's telly.' Powell says she's suited to live TV, with no autocues, 'because I have a good memory. That's why I got ten O-levels.' Sky One, Tuesdays, Thursdays at 6.00pm

Baldrick — starts here

AS 26-year-old biochemist Paula Hernandez, actress Indra Ové brings brains as well as beauty to the research outpost known as Space Island One. Sky One's ambitious, long-running series of the same name is being shot on the Isle of Man, and by the time all the episodes are in the can, Ové will have spent nearly a year on the time-warped island in the Irish Sea. 'Actually, being on the Isle of Man helps us all to believe that we are on a space ship because, in the nicest possible way, it seems so removed from reality,' says Ové. The daughter of an English-Irish mother and Trinidadian father, she was raised in North London, and has had the dubious pleasure of being bitten on the breast by Tom Cruise. It happened in the film Interview with the Vampire, but was not the start of a beautiful relationship. 'Tom is very, very private,' she reveals, adding that Brad Pitt, who was also in the film, was 'a lot more sociable'.

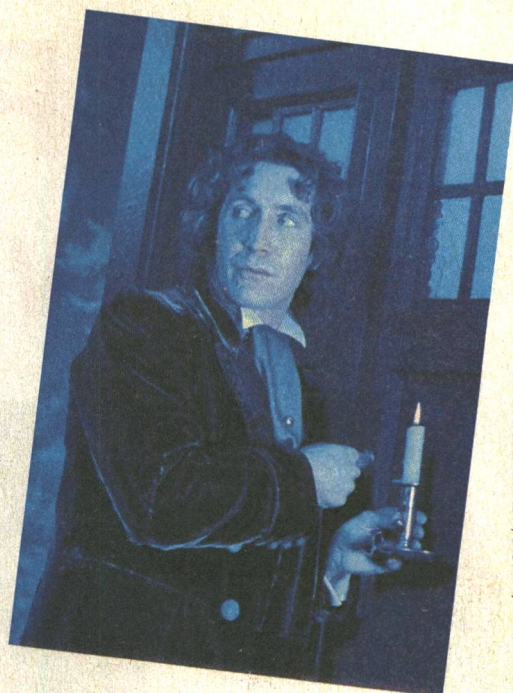

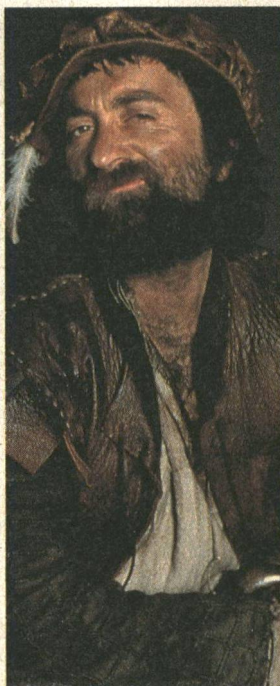

Sky One, Wednesdays at 8.00pm

THE fiercest critic of Mark Durden-Smith, the Sky Sports presenter who introduces live coverage of England's Five Nations rugby championship matches, is his mum, TV veteran Judith Chalmers.

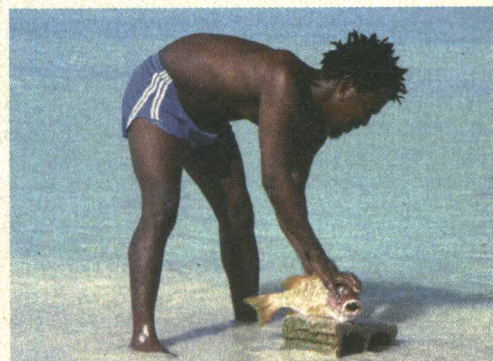

'She recently became a grandmother but that hasn't stopped her keeping a very beady eye on me,' says Mark. 'I get ticked off because I tend to speak too quickly.' Durden-Smith was a researcher on Channel 4's Clive Anderson Talks Back before moving in front of the camera as sports presenter for Channel One, and now Sky Sports. Rugby is his first love — he played for Durham University's first XV. 'Actually, I was the slowest full-back in history,' he confesses. Sky Sports 2, Saturday 7th at 1.00pm, Saturday 21st at 1.00pm

UK GOLD has a cunning plan for February. It is repeating classic episodes of Blackadder the Third and Tony Robinson, who played the immortal henchman Baldrick, is delighted. 'I like it when people are reminded of Blackadder,' he says. 'Even when the fifth person of the day asks me whether I have a cunning plan, I consider it a small price to pay, because really I owe all my success to Baldrick.' Robinson compares his experience on Blackadder to playing for the Brazilian football team: 'Everywhere around you there was brilliance.' UK Gold, Sundays at 8.20pm, Thursdays at 10.05pm

TELEVISION'S favourite Time Lord, Doctor Who, has had more face-lifts than a Hollywood actress. In the 1996 feature-length Doctor Who film, Paul McGann is the eighth incarnation of the TARDIS traveller. Even for a chap who specialises in time travel, the Doctor has come a long way since 1963, when he was conceived by Sydney Newman for the BBC. He's also had to pit his wits against some memorable baddies, including those conical fiends from the planet Skaro, the Daleks. Indeed the current obsession with Teletubbies is no greater than Dalekmania, which swept the country 35 years ago. In the new film, set in San Francisco in 1999, however, Doctor Who's mortal enemy is another old foe, The Master, played by Eric Roberts, brother of Julia. UK Gold, Saturday 7th at 9.30pm

HOT on the heels of last summer's smash hit fly-on-the-towel documentary series Ibiza Uncovered is Caribbean Uncovered, which promises to be just as revealing. Among the amazing characters we'll meet in the 12-part series is a policeman known as Karate George. He is famous among Jamaica's criminals for carrying a gold-plated gun, which he apparently used to ruthless effect when cleaning up the island's second town, Montego Bay. The series also follows boxer Lennox Lewis, who has a house in Jamaica, as he prepares for a world title fight, plus a group of Newcastle construction workers trying to make a living in the West Indies. Sky One, Sundays at 10.00pm

Mr President, we have a problem

ARE there really aliens out there? And would they do us any harm if there were? Independence Day offers some uncompromising answers in devastating style, showing major cities like New York and Los Angeles being destroyed by 15-mile wide spacecraft.

The film, which became the biggest box office hit of 1996, delivers exceptional special effects, but also comes with a firm message. Scriptwriter Dean Devlin, although never having seen a UFO himself, observes: 'When you think about space and the millions of suns, it is almost common sense that there are going to be other life forms. And some of those forms are going to be far more advanced than our own.'

'Earth is a wonderful planet. It looks beautiful even when photographed from satellites. I based my plot on what would happen if aliens really wanted this planet for themselves. They are far from the friendly creatures featured in other films, like Close Encounters or ET, and, in my opinion, are far more realistic.'

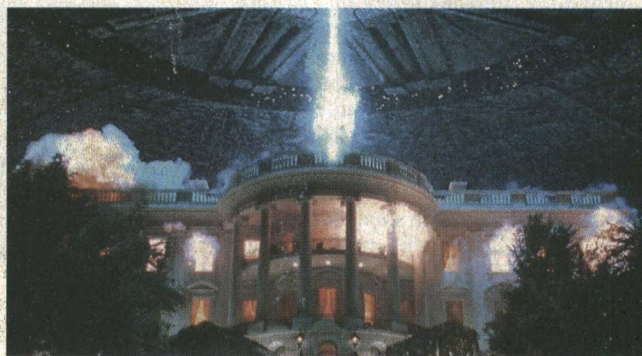

Within hours of the vast space ships appearing over major cities, the attacks begin. But not before a warning from an electronics expert played by Jeff Goldblum, who was also the hero of Jurassic Park and The Lost World.

'Jeff is to science fiction what Arnold Schwarzenegger is to action movies,' asserts Devlin. 'He has been in The Fly and Invasion of the Body Snatchers and has the ability to make everything look so real, even when he faced dinosaurs.'

With Goldblum's help, top air-force pilot Captain Steven Hiller (Will Smith) begins a fight back against seemingly impossible odds. And, throughout, the underlying message of the film is that if Earth was really under threat from outer space, the various countries at war with each other would have to instantly solve their differences to face a common enemy.

Director, German-born Roland Emmerich, discovered the kind of community spirit that can be achieved in a crisis when his new home, Los Angeles, was shaken by a major earthquake in January 1994: 'Suddenly, all the neighbours started talking to each other for the first time,' he says.

'I said to Dean, "Can we capture some of this in our movie?" I did not want it to become a negative film about how we are at the mercy of more powerful predators. I wanted the film to have a sense of hope.'

Independence Day
Saturday 14th 8.05pm

Forget those friendly space creatures from 'Close Encounters' or 'ET' – the aliens in 'Independence Day' are coming to take over the planet. Words: Garth Pearce

'I changed the original title, Doomsday, for the same reason. It is called Independence Day because much of the action takes place on Independence Day in America [4 July] and there is a speech, made by the President [played by Bill Pullman] in which he declares that from now on this will be known as Independence Day for the whole world as we begin to fight the alien forces.'

Emmerich also decided to make his President of the United States a character who was upright and told the truth: 'I am sick and tired of seeing the President portrayed as a crook in every second movie,' he says. 'It was time to make the President a good guy – something that Bill Pullman was grateful for when we were all invited to the White House for a special screening and he had to sit next to the real President, Bill Clinton, to watch the film.'

The director and writer, who also worked together on the film Stargate, collaborated on improving the script. 'We had arguments over every word,' reports Devlin, 'before choosing the special effects and model teams, which could make the difference between the aliens looking laughable or alarmingly realistic.'

Filming was switched from 20th Century Fox's usual studios to the massive Hughes aircraft facility in Los Angeles, where the art department created a population of aliens under the sort of secrecy allegedly reserved by the government for key UFO sightings.

Some of the models met a fiery end, as up to seven film units worked virtually non-stop for 12 months. The model department, headed by Mike Joyce, was in action from May 1995 to April 1996.

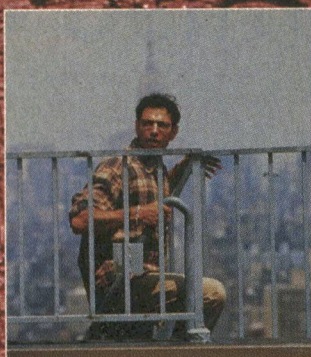

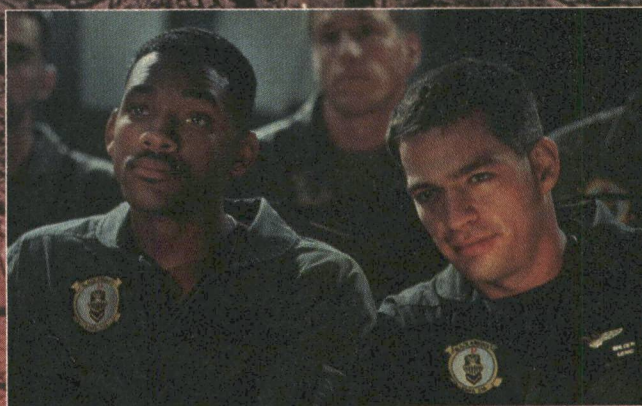

Models of New York had to be constructed, only to be destroyed by what the film-makers call a 'wall of destruction'. This was the massive phalanx of fire sent from the alien ships to engulf cities from the sky. 'The special effects were way beyond anything attempted before,' says Joyce. 'Our model department had cities to build, alien spacecraft, helicopters, fighter jets – it seemed endless.'

Independence Day's combination of model work, live action, plus latest computer-generated images was a complex business. Actors performed against blue-screens and the background footage of the exploding models was later added by computer.

But any problems Bill Pullman may have had during filming were forgotten when he had to watch his performance alongside President Clinton: 'I was as nervous as hell – not helped by the fact that I wore a dark suit and tie, only to be confronted by the President in Hawaiian shirt and jeans. But the worst moment came in the film when the President's wife [Mary McDonnell] dies and some of the White House staff in the seats behind us actually started crying.'

And Bill's courage left him altogether when it came to asking about real unidentified flying objects or rumours about spacecraft landings. He had been primed by other cast members to find out if the American government knew more than it was admitting about mystery sightings and possible contact with aliens.

'I didn't go through with it,' he admits, lamely. 'Are there aliens? I think so. But after doing this film and seeing the theories put into action, I don't want to find out.'

It's a long way from 'Grange Hill' to the glitzy world of Hollywood. But Alex Kingston has left bad hair days behind to carve out a career in America. Words: Martyn Palmer

ER
Thursdays
10.00pm

FOR an actor, it's quite a compliment when the bosses of the world's most popular TV show come knocking at your door to offer you a job.

When the producers of ER went chasing after Alex Kingston, they couldn't even tell her what role she would be playing – they just knew she was the actress they wanted.

It says something for this strikingly beautiful actress – and indeed for the persistence of the show's producers – that both are now very happy they took the gamble to work together.

For Alex, 34, it symbolises the fact that she has come a long way from her humble beginnings in four episodes of Grange Hill as a raw 15-year-old.

She has travelled across the Atlantic to settle in Los Angeles, where she is the new girl in the ER cast, playing Dr Elizabeth Corday, an English surgeon.

'Things have been smooth so far,' she says. 'Joining a tight-knit ensemble of well-established actors is never easy. But my colleagues have really made me feel at home.'

And that's just as well. For Alex admits that her first experiences of America were far from happy ones. She went there with her former husband Ralph Fiennes. He was well-known – the star of films like Schindler's List – and she was not. But this time around, she is there on her own terms.

'I wasn't comfortable there,' she admits. 'But this time, being on my own, and having to just introduce myself as me rather than being associated with someone else, is much more liberating. I wasn't so intimidated by the place and I had a sense of just being me.'

'I'm not going to try to pander or be anything other than what I am and people either have to take it or leave it. I'm not going to be intimidated by their ideas of what an actress should look like or how she should behave.'

It was her starring role in the ITV production of Moll Flanders that literally changed Alex's life. The show was seen, and critically acclaimed, all over the world.

That's when the ER bosses decided Alex was the actress for them.

'Moll went out in the States and there was an immediate response,' she says. 'The Americans are very quick to jump onto something new and they shower you with praise and offers.'

And one of those offers turned out to be Dr Corday. Alex says: 'She has come to join the hospital in Chicago basically to do research. She enjoys being there because in Britain there is still a large amount of sexism towards women in the medical profession.'

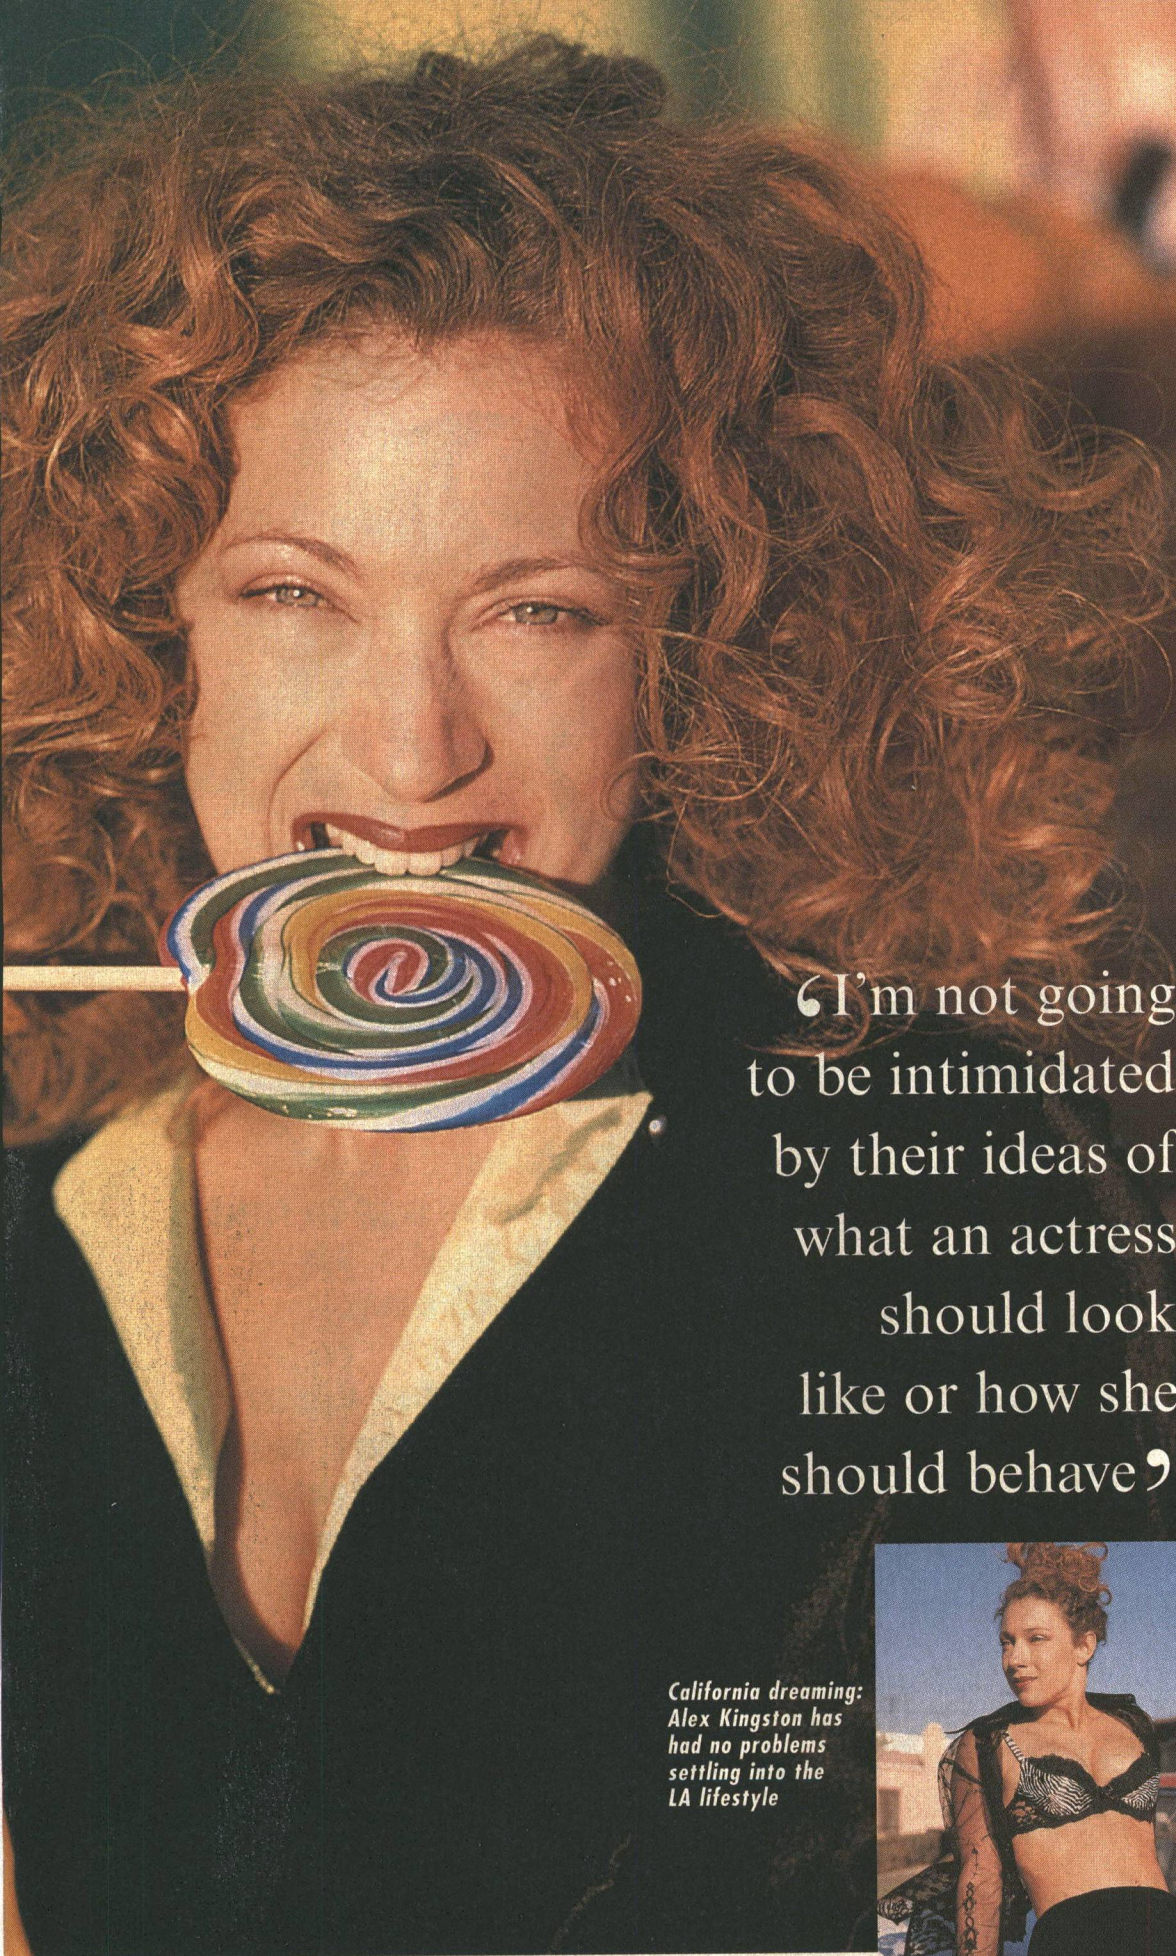

'In America you see a great many more women in those ranks. So for Corday, it's a breath of fresh air in the sense that she can actually be treated as an equal.'

'She works alongside Dr Benton [Eriq La Salle] and they have their run-ins at the beginning but I think they both actually command a lot of respect for one another. What her future is, I don't know because she is still being fleshed out, but it is very exciting.'

The same could be said of Alex, of course. She has settled in well to her new Los Angeles lifestyle – there are reports of a new boyfriend, German journalist Florian Haertel, and she has

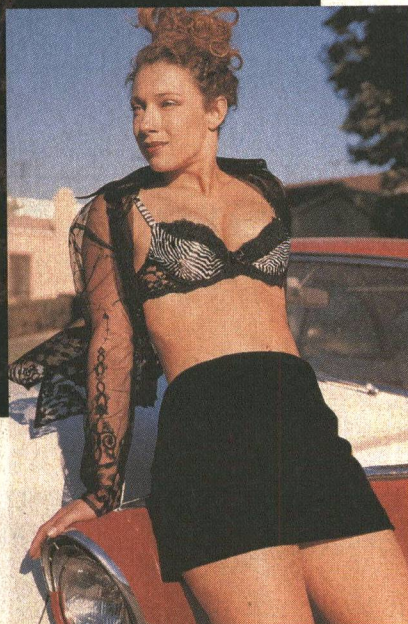

The English

‘I’m not going to be intimidated by their ideas of what an actress should look like or how she should behave’

California dreaming: Alex Kingston has had no problems settling into the LA lifestyle her own group of close friends.

London-born Alex fell in love with acting while she was still at an all-girls grammar school. Her first job – while she was still at school – was in four episodes of Grange Hill.

‘I suppose that was the start for me really,’ she says. ‘And very embarrassing it was too when recently a friend of mine rang me up on a Sunday morning when there were some repeats on and said, “I can’t believe it, you’re on telly in Grange Hill!”’

‘I was in about four episodes and they were classics,’ she laughs. ‘Or at least my hairstyle was a classic.’

After training at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, Alex built her career in the theatre, later winning TV roles in The Knock and Moll Flanders and appearing in films such as Carrington and The Cook, The Thief, His Wife and Her Lover.

Now, at least for the foreseeable future, her career – and indeed her life – is centred on America. Before she started work on ER, Alex carried out her own research, observing real surgeons at work.

And she wasn’t a bit squeamish, she says. ‘I’m a butcher’s daughter so I have no problems with hunks of meat at all,’ she jokes. ‘Actually, when I was observing the doctors, I thought that if I’d known how exciting it was, maybe I would have gone to medical school instead of drama school.’

She’s kidding, of course. Alex wouldn’t swap jobs with anyone – after all, she’s having the time of her life.

SPORT FIVE NATIONS RUGBY

Sky Sports 2

International Rugby
Union – Live
France v England,
Saturday 7th 1.00pm.
England v Wales,
Saturday 21st 1.00pm

RUGBY fans are set to witness a revolution in the Five Nations tournament this year and the men to thank are from the southern hemisphere. Last autumn, the New Zealanders, South Africans and Australians all toured the British Isles and France and enjoyed a string of almost total victories, which were both a catastrophe for the northern hemisphere teams, as well as a godsend. The defeats helped wipe away the belief that the European game should be based on the style of play that had prevailed for years with the forwards being used as the battering ram and, hopefully, feeding the backs.

The touring teams' sweeping 15-man rugby, with fast possession from rucks and a commitment to running with the ball, had replaced the slow-moving, grinding pack play.

Matches were being won with tries instead of penalties. In defeat, European forwards with the power and world renown of England second row Martin Johnson began to see the light.

'It's different to play this way, but it's very exciting both for the players and for the fans. The 12-3 kind of games have gone,' says Johnson, who led the British Lions to their famous series victory over South Africa last summer.

'The southern hemisphere teams showed us that you have to be able to play in a number of different styles, but you must be able to get quick possession and run the ball.'

England's euphoria following the 26-26 draw against New Zealand in December was proof enough for everyone, and the Five Nations will be the stage for Europe's conversion to this style of play.

Last season was the first for professional rugby union in Europe and signs of change were already evident. The French, always the European

England go backs to the future

With Sky Sports showing two of England's crucial Five Nations games live, England forward Martin Johnson tells Ross Biddiscombe why he's backing a conversion to a more exciting style of play team least reliant on forward strength, won the Grand Slam. In the crucial Five Nations match at Twickenham, the English, with Martin leading a power pack, led by 14 points with about a quarter of the match to go.

But the French began a relentless series of handling movements from all over the field. Two tries and a penalty later and England had lost 23-20. In the final 18 minutes, England didn't score a point.

Then in the summer tour of South Africa, the British Lions showed glimpses of the same kind of commitment to running rugby. Coach Ian McGeechan drafted in men who were comfortable passing and receiving the ball. The result? A memorable 2-1 series win.

But the southern hemisphere onslaught in the autumn showed the Five Nations teams what happens when you retreat into your old ways – you lose badly!

So when England's opening Five Nations game – against France in Paris on 7 February – is shown live on Sky Sports 2, get ready for a rugby rumble.

'France is the key game,' Martin says. 'Away at Paris is always tough, but the players have to bring an intensity to the

Martin Johnson in action:
'You have to be able to play in a number of different styles, but you must be able to get quick possession and run with the ball' game similar to what we had against New Zealand. Anything other than a Grand Slam for us this year will be seen as a failure, so we have to be looking forward to this game.'

The game against Wales at Twickenham on 21 February will pit many of Johnson's British Lions heroes against each other. Centres such as Wales's Scott Gibbs and England's Jeremy Guscott proved to be a formidable Lions partnership, but how will it work out if they face each in opposition?

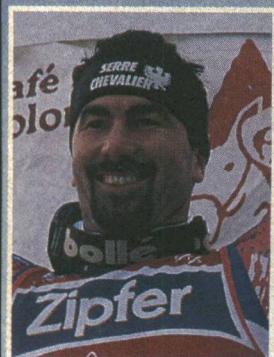

'Players in the Five Nations have always had a healthy respect for each other and the tour only helped further that,' says Martin.

'Wales have lots of good players, not just those who toured as Lions. However, I think scrum half Robert Howley will play well, partly because he was unlucky to miss out on the Lions' Tests through injury.'

England scored 141 points in last season's Five Nations and still finished second. This year, the fans will be looking for them to break all scoring records and win the Grand Slam. That may well happen if Martin Johnson has a hand in it.

Bomba's away!

SKI racing has always attracted a glamorous jet set following, but often its champions have come from mountain villages and shunned the media spotlight.

No one would ever describe the Italian skiing legend Alberto 'La Bomba' Tomba as publicity-shy, however. He's a remarkable competitor and a stylish man, both on and off piste. So much so that the sport is dreading the day he hangs up his skis, which could be as soon as this month, after the Winter Olympics at Nagano.

Born just outside the city of Bologna on 19 December, 1966, the young Italian represented a new breed of city skiers who were to bring the sport of alpine skiing alive. From a wealthy, close-knit family, Tomba came up through the world rankings alongside the sport's all-time greats. His hero, Ingemar Stenmark, was winning in slalom and giant slalom at a phenomenal rate when the unknown young Italian came third in 1986 in a giant slalom race in Alta Badia. This was to be the start of an amazing career, bringing Alberto 48 World Cup victories and a world championship. It was the Olympics, though, that inspired 'La Bomba', beginning with a double gold triumph in 1988 on the slopes of Calgary, a successful defence of his giant slalom crown plus a silver in the slalom in Albertville in 1992, and a second silver in Lillehammer in 1994.

His powerful, almost reckless style has attracted plaudits from ski lovers the world over. Some have questioned his greatness, but most are seduced by his flamboyant personality. Over the years, Tomba has become a friend of mine and very few people get to see his caring, warm side. A big, strong, wealthy man who adores his mother, respects his father and protects his sister like she was his daughter, Tomba is a true Italian – some say, in fact, that he stayed away from the more precarious downhill skiing because his mother feared for his safety.

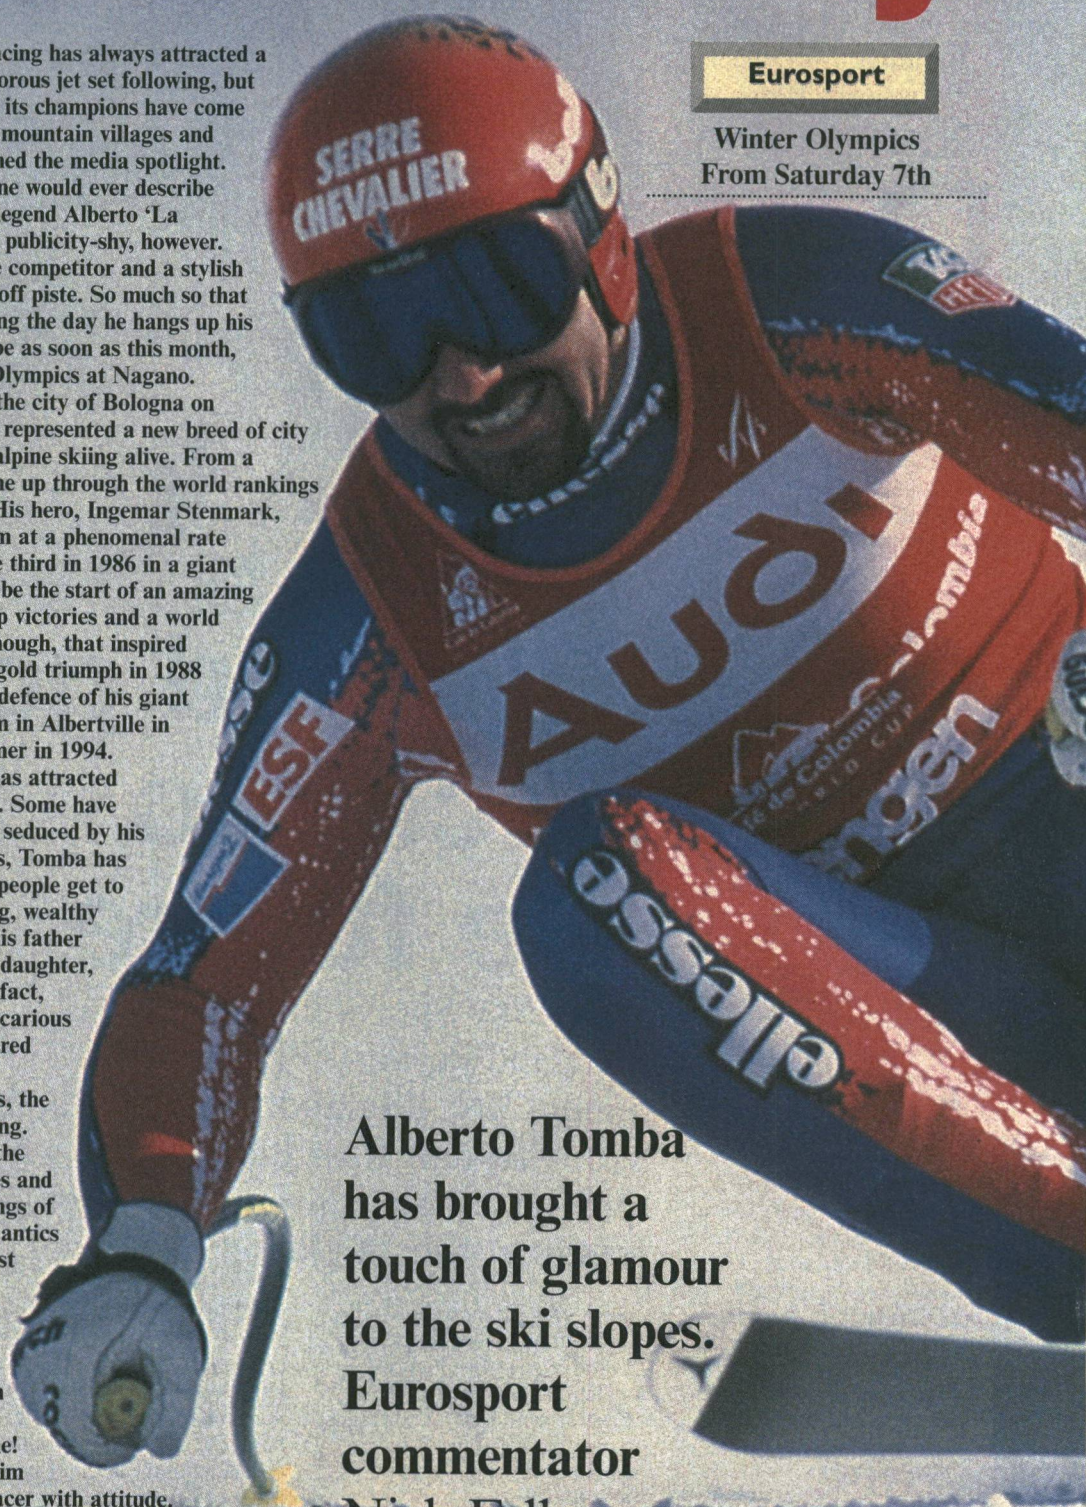

Tomba enjoys a playboy lifestyle. Yes, the wine collection (5000 bottles) is amazing. And yes, Ferraris (in the plural) sit in the garage, but the fine food, wine, beaches and beautiful clothes are simply the trappings of any 31-year-old multi-millionaire. His antics off the piste bring the paparazzi to most events on the tour and also into his personal life. He has hit out at photographers, even throwing a glass trophy at one photographer who took pictures of him in a sauna – it was even more newsworthy because Tomba was actually receiving the trophy at the time! But the off-slope antics have brought him more fame across the world, as a ski racer with attitude.

His film star good looks have brought offers from Tinseltown. 'Hollywood has sent scripts,' he admits, 'but I'm not sure if they are good for me. It's a new area I will focus on when skiing has finished.'

The world's skiing elite both respect and fear Tomba, and often say that to win or be ahead of Tomba is a career highlight. The giant slalom and slalom races at Nagano could be Alberto's skiing swansong. One thing's for certain: if he does retire after the Olympics, things will go downhill for the world of skiing.

The ice maiden cometh

Snowboarding 17-year-old Charlotte Dutton is Britain's hot contender for a medal in the Winter Olympics.

Words: ALICE CHARLES

BRITAIN, to be perfectly honest, doesn't have a great reputation in winter events. The last time we made an impact was with the antics of ski-jumper Eddie 'the Eagle' Edwards in the 1988 Olympics, and that was only because he did so spectacularly badly.

Our excuse is that we don't have the right kind of snow, but we may not be needing excuses for much longer. Newcomer Charlotte Dutton, who will compete in Nagano in the snowboarding event, is highly fancied to be among the medals when the sport is featured at the Winter Olympics for the first time.

At 17, Charlotte is one of the youngest members on the British Olympic team but she is also one of Europe's best snowboarders, competing in major events across the globe.

In the 1996 Junior World Championship in Japan, she was spotted by world-renowned coach Scott Palmer, who asked her to join his academy in Stratton, Vermont. Charlotte trained there for a year.

She is also the first British person to be placed in the snowboarding US Open, which is as big as the tennis competition of the same name.

It all began with a family skiing trip to France nearly three years ago. An instructor introduced Charlotte to snowboarding and she liked it so much that when she returned to her London home she took up lessons at Hillingdon dry ski slopes. There, a sharp-eyed instructor spotted Charlotte's potential and encouraged her to begin competing.

'I was never really a competitive person until I did snowboarding, then I was hooked,' Charlotte says.

She left school at 16 to concentrate full time on her sport and now trains every day. So far, she has broken her collar bone, ankle and arm, but is undeterred.

'I like being in the mountains,' she says. 'One of the main things that drew me to the sport is the fact that you do it by yourself. I train in a team, so I get the benefits of a team but at the end of the day, I don't need to rely on them. You rely on yourself and that's what I like about it.'

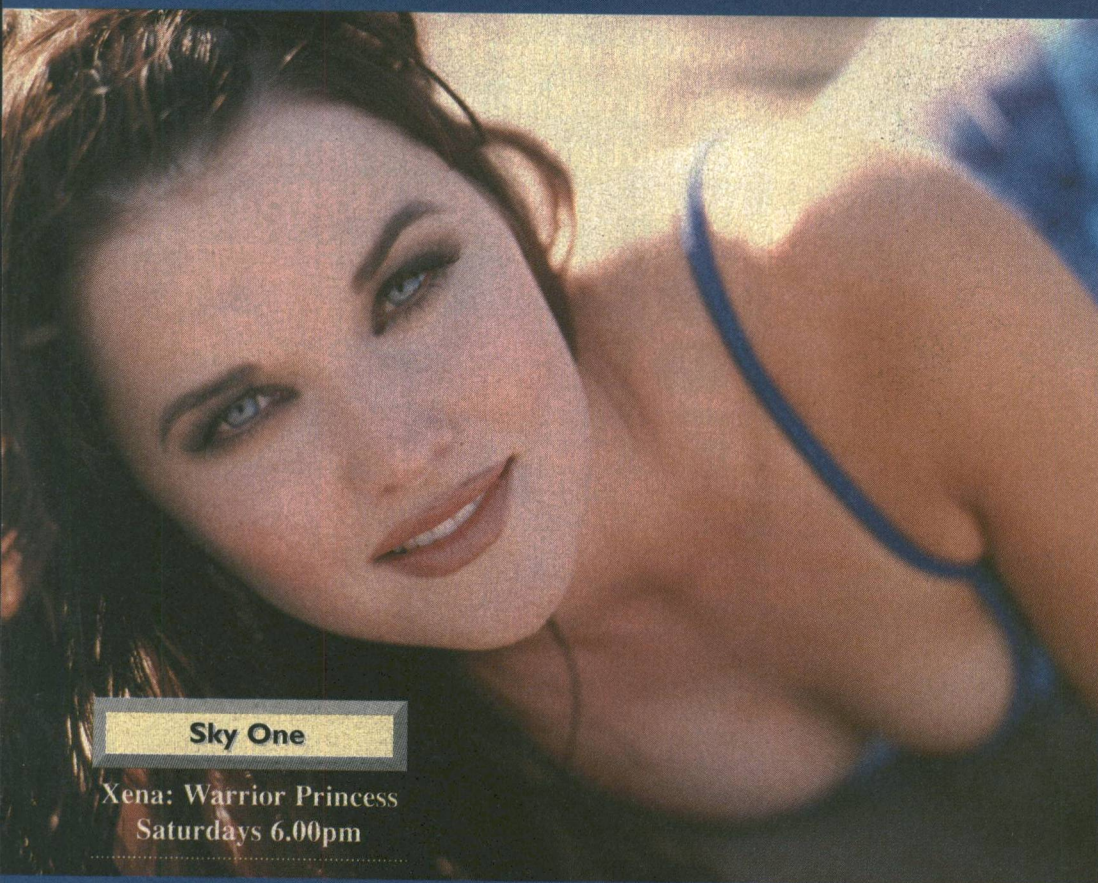

Her family is firmly behind Charlotte – her mum even runs the junior division of the British Snowboarding Association. But like most British athletes, she gets by on a shoestring. 'If it wasn't for my mum and dad, there's no way I'd be able to do this,' she says. 'But I want to show everyone that Great Britain really is great.'

Xena power!

She's been labelled the world's hardest telly babe, but is Lucy Lawless just as tough in real-life? Here are 10 things you may not know about the princess warrior to help you decide

Sky One

Xena: Warrior Princess
Saturdays 6.00pm

DESPITE her athletic prowess as Xena, Lucy Lawless had no special training in the martial arts before taking the role. 'When it comes down to it, I'm no better at fighting than the next person.'

- Lucy says she never has problems with fans, despite the fact that Xena is shown in more than 70 countries around the world. 'I think fans keep their distance because they see me on screen looking formidable and beating the hell out of anyone who crosses my path.'
- In her teens, Lucy worked in a gold mine in the Australian outback. 'Like most people, I had this romantic notion that I'd be going down a mine carrying a pickaxe and a canary in a cage. But it wasn't like that. It was hot, dirty work.'
- Xena's famous cry possibly stems from Lucy's training as an opera singer. 'I studied opera for a few years as a teenager until I realised I didn't have the passion that you need to keep it up after all the rejections you get.'
- Lucy has had a doll made in her honour but wasn't too pleased with the result. 'It makes me mad to see it. It's got enormous muscles and looks like they put my head on a he-man's body.'

● Although she's a statuesque 5'11", Lucy is not quite as Xena-like as you might imagine. Her hair is naturally blonde and her glowing tan comes out of a bottle. 'They paint it on with a sponge and it takes about five minutes. It takes a lot longer to get it off.'

- In a US survey, Lucy came third on a list of people that kids wanted to come to their house to play, behind Chelsea Clinton and Tiger Woods. What is it about Xena that people admire? 'Anyone who's ever been picked on can relate to Xena's desire to fight back and even the score.'
- Lucy is a keen sportswoman, having grown up with four elder brothers in Auckland. 'I didn't know I was a girl until I was eight. Anything they could do, I could do just as well.'
- Xena may be a role model for young girls everywhere, but who does Lucy herself admire? 'Susan Sarandon and Helen Mirren. I also think Madonna's an admirable creature, but I don't intend to model my career on hers. Xena's breastplates will not suddenly go all pointy.'
- Lucy spends most of her spare time at home with her nine-year-old daughter Daisy. 'She can't understand why anybody should make a fuss of boring old mum.'

GAZING around the room restlessly, Courteney Cox admits she finds it difficult to concentrate on anything in her life.

'I love change. I just like to keep moving. I can't stand having my life planned out,' she says.

The star of Friends admits this is probably a failing when it comes to relationships: 'I can't tolerate lazy people but, hopefully, I choose men who are intellectuals and are ever-changing and stimulating to be with!'

One man who managed to keep her attention for a good few years was actor Michael Keaton, 13 years her senior.

She looks almost wistful talking about him: 'I love him dearly. He's an extremely talented actor and a wonderful human being. But we finally realised we weren't meant to be together.'

'I wanted a family and he's already been there and done that.'

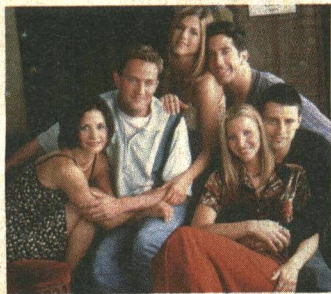

Their six year, on-off relationship ended almost two years ago when she reportedly dumped him after he failed to live up to a list of ten rules she stuck on the fridge door (they included 'Keep the home neat and tidy, Father my child when I ask you' and 'Fight fair when we row.')

Her Friends character Monica Geller is also attracted to older men – she had a long affair in the show with a forty-something played by Tom Selleck – and Courteney admits that she does like the more mature guy.

At the moment, though, she doesn't have much going on off-screen. There was talk that she was dating rocker Adam Curitz, singer with the band Counting Crows, who also had a relationship with her Friends co-star Jennifer Aniston, but she rubbishes the story: 'Nah! He is one of my best friends, we're really, really close. Jen introduced us actually. In fact, he's teaching me to play the keyboard.'

Back dating again,

'I can see the headline now: "Courteney Cox wants to get naked"'

In light-hearted mood, Courteney Cox reveals some weird thoughts and talks about life among 'Friends'.
Jane Oddy reports

she doesn't seem too enthusiastic about forming a permanent relationship: 'I always thought I should be married by the time I was 30 but now I've turned 30, everything has changed.'

'I'm really happy to be single. I'm not at a point where I want to settle down just yet. Having children is important to me and it will happen one day.'

She keeps broodiness at bay by hanging out with

Sky One

Friends
Thursdays 9.00pm

her family. She has one brother, two sisters and numerous step-siblings: 'I have a lot of relatives, including sisters who have children, and I like that. My brother visits me on location a lot and he's got three little girls who all think it's cool they have an auntie in Friends.'

Although the show, now into its fourth series, has made the 33-year-old actress into one of the year's hot young things, she has been in the business for more than ten years and is amused at the suggestion that she is an overnight success.

She has a respectable list of film and TV work behind her. After years of modelling, her big break came in the 1984 video for Bruce Springsteen's Dancing in the Dark.

After that, she played Michael J Fox's girlfriend in the sitcom Family Ties and was on her way.

Courteney's foray into movies has been a big success. She played bitchy reporter Gale Weathers in Wes Craven's horror film Scream as well as the sequel, Scream 2, due for UK release in May.

She appears to have a healthy attitude to the hype now surrounding her and cheerfully admits to the similarities with Monica – both are neat to the point of obsessiveness and can't sit still. But she has an off-beat side that would make Monica freak. As she removes her jacket during our interview in a London hotel, she wonders how I would react if she stripped off.

'Everyone has weird thoughts,' she shrugs. Which prompts the question of on-screen nudity. She says that she is not forbidden in her Friends contract to take roles that include sex scenes but adds:

'I wouldn't want to show my behind but I'd do a love scene that wasn't explicit. Our producers are pretty liberal. As long as it's not exploitative.'

She is anxious not to appear blasé about her life: 'I've said the word bored a lot, I know, but I'm extremely happy about this whole thing. I can see the headline now: "Courteney Cox wants to get naked – she's bored." It's just that I like change.'

CABLE & WIRELESS

The Cable & Wireless Marine fleet has played a vital role in establishing the worldwide cable network

Looking forward

From the electric telegraph to digital TV, Cable & Wireless has a long and proud history in global communications

With the high-tech age of digital television almost upon us, it's easy to forget that all our modern communications technology started with the humble telegraph in 1837. Cable & Wireless had its roots right there at the beginning.

The world's first international telegraph link was established in 1851 between London and Paris via a cable under the Channel. A transatlantic link was completed in 1866 after several unsuccessful attempts. One of the men who helped finance the cable was John Pender, who founded a series of companies that established a network of links to India, the Far East and Australia. In 1872 the companies merged to form the Eastern Telegraph Company.

By the beginning of the 20th century, the company had created the world's largest international telecommunications system. In 1928 it united with companies involved in the emerging radio technology and a new company was formed – Imperial and International Communications Limited – which became Cable & Wireless Limited in 1934.

Cable & Wireless played a vital role in World War Two, carrying military communications, but it was allowed to remain independent. After the war, the government decided to nationalise the company, which took place on 1 January 1947, and work started on restoring cable links that were damaged in the war.

The next two decades were a time of huge change – the first transatlantic telephone cable was laid in 1956 and the first communications satellite, Earlybird, was launched in 1962. Cable & Wireless built a satellite station on Ascension Island which was used in the Apollo space project.

When the Conservatives came to power in 1979, Cable & Wireless was chosen as one of the first companies to be privatised. That happened in November 1981. Since then, the company has expanded worldwide, replacing many of its traditional copper analogue cables with digital fibre optics.

Today, the Cable & Wireless group is still at the forefront of global communications, offering the most up-to-date cable television, telephone and internet services.

Cable & Wireless Marine owns and operates the world's largest and most advanced fleet of cable ships and underwater vehicles. You have the chance to see one of the Cable & Wireless ships first hand by entering this great competition. The lucky winner and up to three guests will be able to travel to one of our UK ports for an on-board lunch and a fascinating guided tour of the ship.

To enter, just answer this question: On which island did Cable & Wireless establish a satellite station used in the Apollo space project?

Send your answer on a postcard, together with your name and address, to Cable Guide/Cable & Wireless Competition, 172 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 0JJ, to reach us by 28 February 1998.

Terms and Conditions

1. Employees of Cable & Wireless, associated companies and their families are not eligible to enter.
2. No purchase required.
3. The closing date for all entries is 28 February 1998.
4. The draw for the competition will take place on 3 March. The winner will be notified by post within 14 days.
5. The winner of the prize will be advised of the date of the tour in writing.
6. No cash alternative is available.
7. The winner will be the first correct entry drawn at random after the closing date.
8. Judge's decision is final and no correspondence will be entered into.
9. No responsibility will be taken for entries lost, misdirected or damaged.
10. Proof of postage is not proof of delivery.
11. A maximum of one entry per household is permitted.
12. The name of the winner will be available to those sending an SAE to the competition address marked 'Cable & Wireless Heritage competition results'.
13. Entry implies acceptance of these rules and consent to use the winner's name, town, county and likenesses in future publicity.
14. Prize includes train travel to port, lunch and a tour of the ship.

Disney Channel

Home Improvement

Weekdays 6.30pm; Saturdays 11.00am, 7.00pm; Sundays 11.00am

*Nice little earners:
Handyman Tim Taylor
(Allen) and his screen wife Jill (Patricia Richardson)*

TIM ALLEN, TV's favourite handyman, waits quietly in the wings while the guest star of tonight's episode of Home Improvement takes the spotlight. Admiration and respect are written all over Tim's face as veteran American comedian Rodney Dangerfield whips through his inventory of sexist, hammy one-liners, polishing them off with his trademark: 'I don't get no respect.' The jokes are executed with such panache and perfect timing by this old-timer that Tim, like everyone else on Stage Four at Disney's Burbank Studios in Los Angeles, is cracking up despite himself.

And a nice little earner the sketch is, too, for Mr Allen, who is one of America's highest paid TV entertainers. For each show, he is paid nearly £800,000 (around £35,000 a minute) to play Tim Taylor, the bungling TV home improvement expert he invented and developed from eight years of painstakingly working the stand-up circuit.

Not that anybody on the set (which comes complete with eccentric neighbour Wilson's lawn, watered and trimmed by props) of HI appears to begrudge him it. The show takes five days to rehearse and film each episode, up to ten writers to script, has more special effects than any other American sitcom and costs £1million an episode to produce.

But then, of course, Tim – the voice of Buzz Lightyear in Toy Story, and star of The Santa Clause, Jungle2Jungle and the upcoming For Richer or Poorer with Kirstie Alley – is the reason they'll all be back in work when they start filming their eighth season this summer. In the UK, we're fast catching up – the fourth series has just started on the Disney Channel.

Anyway, Tim Allen is just so affable – a studio big shot who doesn't flex his muscle, plus he's a genuine Mr Fixit – how could anyone resent him raking in those megabucks?

Certainly not Richard Karn, his long-suffering sidekick Al in Tool Time, the cable do-it-yourself show set within Home Improvement, and Tim's regular golf partner.

Even more genial than Tim, Richard found his way onto Home Improvement eight years ago after a chance meeting.

'I was at traffic school having gotten a ticket for something or other. I happened to sit next to an agent who told me about the auditions.

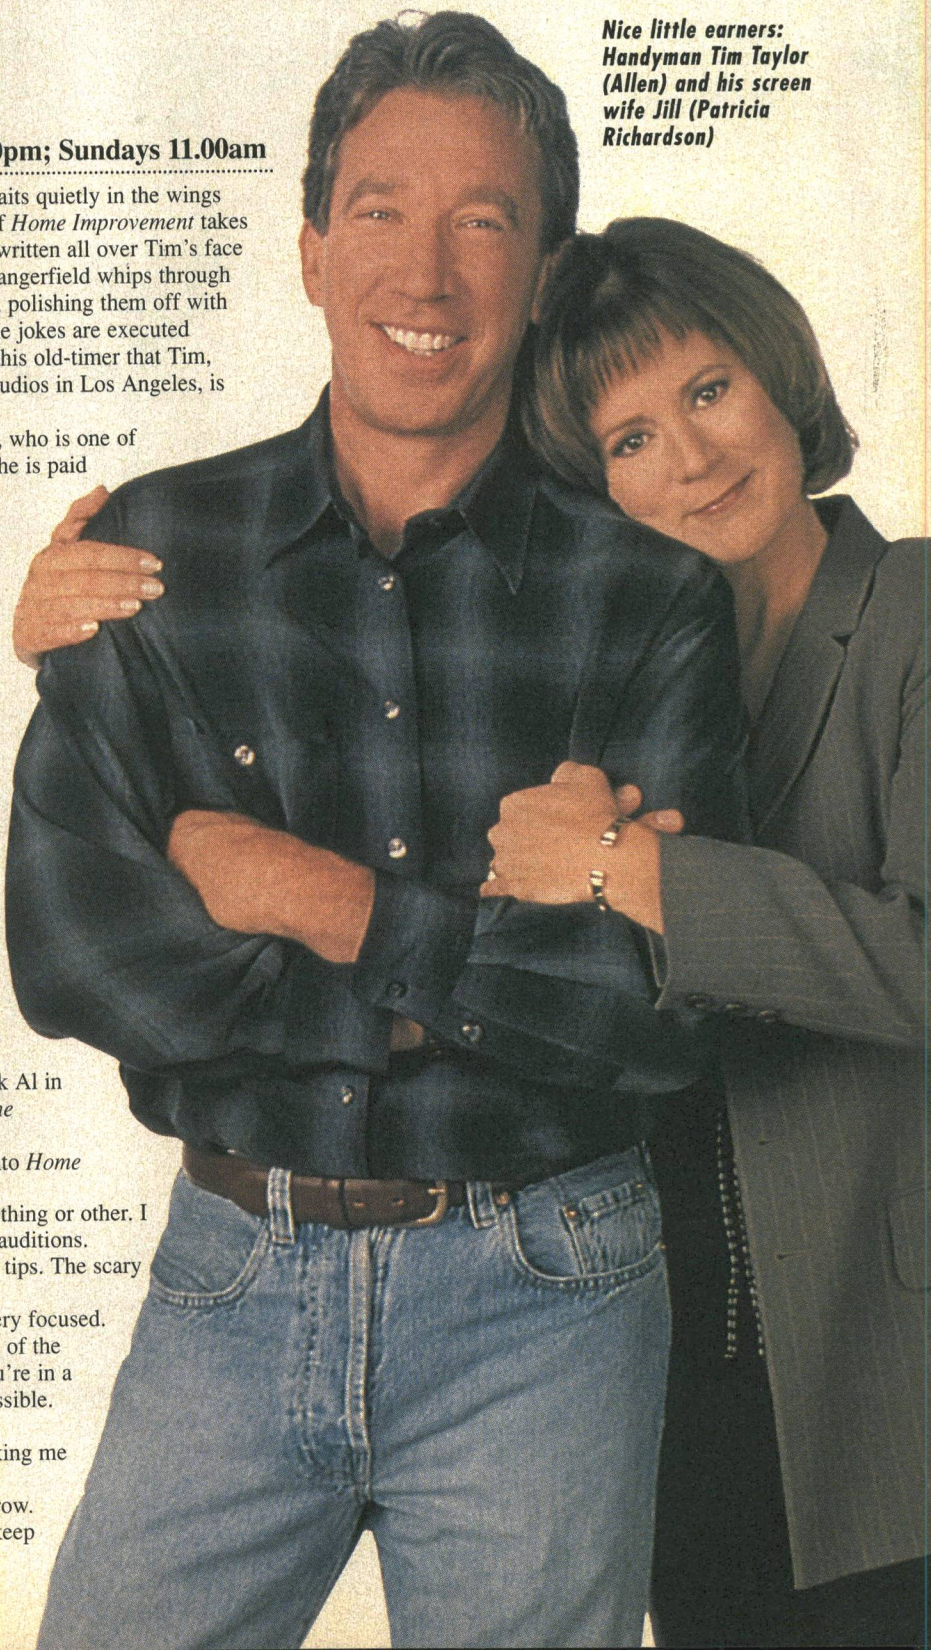

'Now complete strangers come up to me for hardware tips. The scary thing is, I kinda have the answers!'

Back on the set, Tim has become quiet, serious and very focused. Well, he is about to blow out the entire electrical circuit of the Detroit Lions football stadium – no mean feat when you're in a studio in LA. But this is Hollywood and anything is possible.

He does not take his success for granted.

'If I sit still too long thinking about it all, it starts making me dizzy,' he says.

'I feel sometimes like it's all going to go away tomorrow. The heavy work schedule is all about denial – if I just keep working, then nothing will change.'

Company of wolves

Filming animals in a natural habitat can be fraught with problems. To capture the elusive grey wolf on camera, documentary makers had to find a very special solution

Discovery Channel

Wolves at Our Door
Sunday 22nd 8.00pm

THE grey wolf is wary of humans, and for good reason. It has been shot, poisoned and trapped in huge numbers in the United States and is on the endangered list in 47 of the 48 mainland states. Its fear of humans has made capturing the elusive animal on camera almost impossible.

Natural history film makers Jim and Jamie Dutcher wanted to film wolves as they actually lived in the wild. So, over a period of six years, beginning in 1991, they built a special 25-acre enclosure in Idaho's remote Sawtooth mountains, where they hand-raised five newborn wolf cubs.

The Dutchers lived among the wolves in a tent camp, through balmy mountain summers and bitter winters. And they not only observed and filmed the wolves, but also formed an extraordinary bond with the animals.

Their film, Wolves at Our Door, follows the pack from frisky puppyhood to maturity, when its pecking order had been established and the mating rituals had begun.

Despite their closeness to the Dutchers, the wolves had enough space and freedom to operate as a pack would in the wild. Each animal had its own place – from Kamots, the leader or alpha wolf, to poor Lakota, the omega wolf at the bottom of the pecking order, and always last to eat.

The film includes some extraordinary moments when the Dutchers interact with the animals, and Jim and Jamie believe that the wolves came to look upon them as slightly strange members of the pack. 'They would greet us as they greeted each other – with a lick to the face,' says Jim. 'During all my filming projects I've developed close connections with the animals, but none so strong as with these wolves.'

Jamie became fascinated with the way that the pack communicated, and spent hours recording their howls. 'Hearing their conversations made it feel as if they were our companions,' she says.

Because the wolves were raised without any threat to their existence or fear of man, they can never be released completely into the wild. After the project ended, they were moved to a specially built centre on Nez Perce tribal land in Idaho, the site of the Wolf Education and Research Centre. 'It was hard to let them go,' says Jim. 'But we've been back to see them and they remember us – they still run out to greet us.'

That Thing You Do!

Mars Attacks

Smalls talk with Kirstie

THERE is a buzz on the Warner Bros lot in Los Angeles that Kirstie Alley will not be showing up for interviews to publicise her latest project, a new sitcom from the creators of Friends. Rumour has it that she's too busy or maybe too wary of questions about her messy divorce from Parker Stevenson. They say that she also doesn't welcome enquiries into the state of her new love life with Melrose Place actor James Wilder, who's 13 years her junior. Instead of the actress herself, a group of disgruntled journalists are being fobbed off with promises of a visit to the set of the show, Veronica's Closet.

Then, at the eleventh hour, Kirstie turns up anyway, dressed in a figure-hugging velvet dress and a pair of spiky heels. Her hair is kind of sensuously matted at the back and she is instantly recognisable, both as herself and any number of the characters that she's previously played – most famously, perhaps, Rebecca Howe in the long-running comedy series Cheers.

The fact that she's here implies that Kirstie is pretty pleased with her new show. 'Well, you know, I thought I didn't want to do another series because I never saw how anything could be as good as Cheers,' she says.

'Then I got together with the guys who created Friends and we started bouncing some ideas around until we came up with Veronica's Closet, which is a comedy about a hugely successful woman who owns and runs an empire of sexy underwear stores, but whose private life is a disaster.

'When I watched the pilot, it looked to me like a show that had already been going for two or three years because everything fitted together so well and the characters were all so connected. I don't see how this show can fail.'

Indeed not. The series, which arrived on Sky One last month, is already a huge hit in the US and TV companies around the world have paid record sums for foreign rights.

Like Friends, it relies on razor-sharp scripts and a certain chemistry between the regular characters. 'But, hopefully, what you're getting with Veronica's Closet is a slightly more adult view of the world,' Kirstie explains.

'This woman isn't 20 any more – she's in her forties and she's got a husband who cheats on her. She's achieved a great deal professionally and yet she's got a head and a heart full of doubts and vulnerabilities.'

Does Kirstie see similarities between herself and Veronica? 'Uh, yeah, we both like underwear,' she says. 'Also, I'm her age, I'm her build and, although I seem to be a fairly tough cookie, just like her, I'm pretty vulnerable. I like to pretend I'm not, but I'm pretty easy to hurt.'

Unlike Veronica, Kirstie has children – William True, five, and Lillie Price, four. They were both adopted after she had a miscarriage in 1991 and are at the centre of her life.

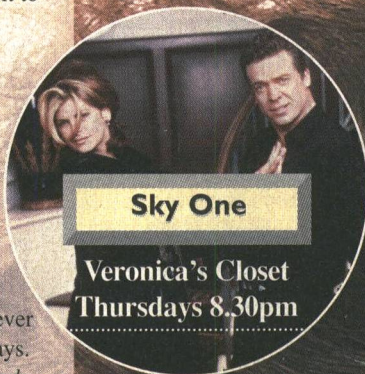

The 47-year-old actress hates being parted from them, so being back on TV suits her perfectly. 'The long haul of doing a movie is not conducive to family life,' she says.

Whether the demands of her movie career – she currently has several projects on the go, including Woody Allen's new film, Deconstructing Harry – had anything to do with the break-up of her 13-year marriage is a matter of speculation.

What is clear is that she has found happiness with James Wilder, a man she describes as a combination of Houdini, Errol Flynn and Marlon Brando. This leads to a question unlikely to delight the fiercely private Kirstie – about whether or not she and her new beau have plans to marry.

'If we are, the bride and groom will be the first to know and everyone else who needs to be informed will follow.'

In other words, she has no intention of telling us about her private plans. She may be playing the queen of an underwear empire, but she's not stripping down to her metaphorical smalls for the public. And who can blame her?

SCREEN TRENDS

Hollywood has always been fascinated with little green men and alien invasions of earth. IVAN WATERMAN scans the movie galaxy for signs of intelligent life...

THE ABYSS

The man who has given us Titanic obviously had a fixation with 'Them'. Did director James Cameron see aliens at the bottom of his hot tub? No matter. By now he'll be celebrating the success of his watery epic, but take a look at his dive below in 1989, which won an Oscar for Visual Effects. Oil riggers attempt to rescue a damaged nuclear submarine and stumble across ... mysterious bright lights. Ed Harris and Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio almost drowned for their art but it must have been fantastic practice for Cameron!
SKY MOVIES GOLD MONDAY 9TH

INDEPENDENCE DAY

'They' don't say much but, boy, do 'they' make a mess. Anyway, we more than make do with Will Smith, who saves the world with help from Bill Pullman as the US President. By their side are drunken pilot Randy Quaid and Jeff Goldblum, now without question the silver screen's boffin of the Nineties. OK, the bad guys don't have much style, but as director Roland Emmerich quipped, 'What ... you want them to have personalities as well?'
SKY MOVIES SCREEN 2 SATURDAY 14TH

COCOON

If you found a batch of rotting 'anthills' at the bottom of your swimming pool, you'd be worried, unless you were a senior citizen and there was a chance of being 'reborn'. Don Ameche, Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy are among those given a new lease of life by loveable alien Brian Dennehy and friends. You can also catch the much less interesting sequel Cocoon: The Return!
SKY MOVIES GOLD FRIDAY 13TH
COCOON: THE RETURN SKY MOVIES GOLD MONDAY 16TH

FORBIDDEN PLANET

The Bard could never have known when he sat down and knocked off The Tempest that he'd also be giving us a Hollywood sci-fi classic and an award-winning British stage musical. Leslie (Naked Gun) Nielsen and Walter Pidgeon are magnificent in this yarn about marooned space travellers and their metallic automation assistant, Robby the Robot.
TNT FRIDAY 6TH

E.T. THE EXTRA-TERRESTRIAL

The 'Mother' of them all. Henry Thomas, who plays ET's chum Elliott, went on to star in Legends of the Fall, while Drew Barrymore disappeared for a decade before successfully resurfacing in Hollywood. The hot money rests on Steven Spielberg making a sequel at some point in the future.

GENERAL

Caribbean Uncovered Sky One 10.00pm

A new series of this increasingly popular style of real-life documentary follows on from last summer's smash hit series, Ibiza Uncovered. Caribbean Uncovered promises to be as compulsive as its predecessor, as we travel with the England cricket team on their winter tour and follow the group of fans known as the 'Barry Army'. There's a look at the club and music scene that is so much a part of the Caribbean and at the ex-pats who loved the hedonistic lifestyle so much they decided to stay.

SPORT

Super Sunday Football - LIVE Sky Sports 1 3.00pm

Aston Villa meet Newcastle at Villa Park with the match billed as a tale of two strikers - Villa's record signing Stan Collymore and England captain Alan Shearer, who may be back from injury. The twosome will be out to prove that they are still among the top forwards in the game. Neither team is enjoying much success domestically, but both play the kind of football that fans love to watch.

Sunday continues overleaf...

The Vintage Hour
 VH-1 10.00pm

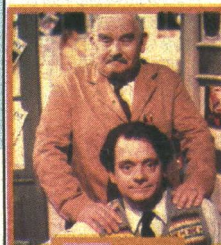

It's time to look at the new greatest hits of the Pet Shop Boys. Former journalist Neil Tennant and his more silent sidekick Chris Lowe just keep on pumping out those perfect pop hits that all started with West End Girls back in 1985. This is an hour of the very best from the boys, who recently completed a successful residency in the heart of London's West End.

FILM

Jailhouse Rock
TNT 11.00pm

Perhaps one of Elvis Presley's better film appearances, simply because of the standard of the songs. The story sees Elvis play a hot-tempered youth convicted of manslaughter and shorn by a jailhouse haircut who nevertheless entertains his fellow cellmates with songs like Treat Me Nice and Don't Leave Me Now, as well as the title track. On his release, he is determined to make it to the top. Here is 'the King' in all his nostril-flaring glory!

January's Solution

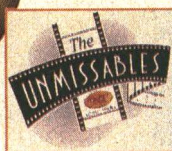

Send completed crosswords (only one per household) to: Prize Crossword No 2, CABLE GUIDE, 172 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 0JJ

● Congratulations to December's TV winner, Mrs J Young of Worthing, West Sussex

The first correct entry drawn at random wins. There is no cash alternative to the prize. If the prizewinner cannot take up the prize, Cable Guide reserves the right to award it to a runner-up. The Editor's decision is final. No employees of Cable Guide, Challenge TV or associated companies are eligible to enter.

Solid Gold

Tune into 'The Unmissables' season on TNT Classic Movies this month and you could find yourself walking along the red carpet at the 1998 Royal Film Performance

TNT Classic Movies and The Variety Club of Great Britain's Gold Heart Appeal have teamed up to offer a lucky winner two tickets to the most glittering event of the year. We've also got some fabulous runners-up prizes of limited edition watches and posters – collector's items for every memorabilia fan.

Nothing matches the glamour of the Royal Film Performance – we'll also provide an overnight stay at a top hotel, the Bonnington in London. So, if you want to spend an evening with stars and royalty, watch The Unmissables season this month to find the answers to the questions below.

As ever, the TNT Classic Movies Unmissables season features

some all-time greats. From Gigi and High Society to Seven Brides for Seven Brothers and Casablanca, many films have a romantic theme to tie in with Gold Heart Day on 14 February.

Every year, The Variety Club's Gold Heart Appeal raises money to give sick, disabled and disadvantaged children the love and care they need. The 1998 Appeal reaches its climax on Valentine's Day and you can help by buying your £1 Gold Heart at one of the Appeal's partner outlets – Tesco, Mothercare, WH Smith, Victoria Wine, Sketchley SupaSnaps, Dorothy Perkins, Halifax Building Societies, Gala Bingo Clubs, Courts, Comet, BT shops and many more.

QUESTIONS:

1. NAME THREE ACTORS WHO PLAYED BROTHERS IN SEVEN BRIDES FOR SEVEN BROTHERS.
2. IN WHICH COUNTRY IS CASABLANCA SET?
3. NAME LOUIS JOURDAN'S CHARACTER IN GIGI?

The first correct entry drawn wins film tickets and overnight stay at the Bonnington Hotel. The next 20 correct entries selected win a watch and 20 runners-up win posters. Send your entries on a postcard to: TNT Royal Performance Competition, TNT Classic Movies, PO Box 3777, London W1A 5TN. Closing date: 30 April 1998.

FILM

True Confections
HVC 8.00pm
 Growing up in a small town in Canada is not easy for Verna and her friends. Their main worry concerns the big question on the lips of every young man and woman in town - who will they marry? Verna is the one with all the choices - the cool rebel, the scholarly catch or even the surprise partner - but there's plenty of drama before the final selection can be made.

GENERAL

Snowy
Carlton Select 10.00pm
 An epic drama series about the people who worked on the giant hydroelectric and irrigation scheme begun in Australia's Snowy Mountains in 1949. Displaced people from 40 countries helped complete the project, which involved diverting the course of the mighty Snowy River. This stars Aussie stalwarts Rebecca Gibney and Bill Kerr, and look out for Annie Jones, who Neighbours fans might remember as Jane.

FILM

The Maltese Falcon
 TNT 12.15am

After midnight is a perfect time to watch Humphrey Bogart as Dashiell Hammett's detective hero Sam Spade. All the legendary heroes and villains appear in this classic from 1941, including Mary Astor as Spade's client, Peter Lorre as the evasive Joel Cairo and Sydney Greenstreet as Kasper Gutman. Murder, double-crossing and intrigue abound, but just where is the falcon and why is it important to so many people? Only Bogie can find out!

Bugs

UK Gold 9.00pm
 This ten-part series starts tonight in the world of high-tech crime and surveillance, starring Craig (Neighbours) McLachlan, Jesse Birdsall and Jaye Griffiths. The team are hired to take care of some pretty scary business, including the protection of an Italian politician, coping with voice-activated bombs and dispersing lethal viruses. Well-made, well-acted and well worth watching.

Toontastic

THERE'S a Brains, Brawn and Udders bonanza on Cartoon Network this month, featuring toon stars Dexter, Johnny Bravo and Cow & Chicken. Catch new episodes of Cow & Chicken weekdays at 8.00am and 5.00pm. Plus there are 15 brand new episodes of Dexter's Laboratory at 9.00am and 4.00pm every weekday. To round it all up, Cartoon Network is hosting a BBU marathon on Sunday 22nd when every episode of Dexter's Laboratory, Johnny Bravo and Cow & Chicken will be played all day. Join in the fun by entering this great competition. Ten lucky readers will win this Johnny Bravo record bag, Cartoon Network skiing fleece, BBU heat sensitive mug and a BBU T-shirt. To enter, just answer this question:

WHICH OF THESE CHARACTERS HAS A SISTER CALLED DEE DEE: JOHNNY BRAVO, DEXTER, COW OR CHICKEN?

Send your answer, with your name, age and address, to Cable Guide, 172 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 0JJ, to reach us by 28 February. Usual rules apply.

LOVE, travel, fashion best mates ... They all feature on Rapture's lifestyle show, Crush, which co-presenter Rosie Cox describes as 'a concoction of things'. 'Most importantly of all,' she says, 'everything is done by the viewer.' The show includes Off Your Chest, a slot in which viewers get a chance to sound off about whatever's on their mind.

'If someone hates Oasis or they've done a bungee jump and they think it's fab, they can tell everyone about it,' says Rosie. People are even picked from the streets and asked to do such things as try out new beauty products or reveal their wardrobes. The Crush crew trawls colleges and schools for people willing to take part in the show, so if you fancy 15 minutes of fame, it could be your chance.

Going for gold

LIFE is tough at the top as students at Australia's Sports West Academy discover in Trouble's new series, Sweat. The show follows the fortunes of eight young athletes – runners, swimmers and gymnasts – and their dream of making it big. Along the way they must cope with all of life's problems, especially those of the romantic variety, as well as the stresses and strains of competition. They train hard, but they play hard too. Tune in to find out how the sporty spics and hunks in trunks get on.

FILM

The Cable Guy
Sky Movies Screen 1
9.05pm

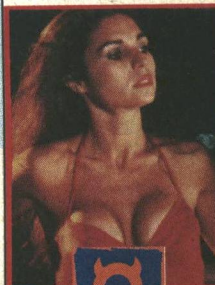

Premiere of a dark comedy about a newly single young man whose life is overturned by an over-eager cable installer. Jim Carrey (playing against type) stars as the cable guy who comes into the home of Matthew Broderick after his girlfriend moves out, leaving him craving some other form of company. Broderick's friendliness towards Jim gives the cable installer the wrong impression and the sparks start to fly when the girlfriend is invited back – time for Mr Carrey to pull those funny faces that we love so much.

Our Man in ... Dominica

UK Style 11.00pm

I like Clive Anderson. He's bright, funny and different. OK, he talks a bit fast, but I forgive him. Tonight he opens the curtain for us on the West Indian island of Dominica, which has been in the middle of the so-called 'banana wars'. A fascinating story of how he follows the island's prime minister to London to hear her argue the case for the country's main crop.

SPORT

Winter Olympics – LIVE

Eurosport 7.00am
From Nagano in Japan, there's a fortnight of winter sports to enjoy. Alpine skiing is usually one of the highlights, with Alberto Tomba still the man to beat, while British hopes lie with 31-year-old Graham Bell. Another Brit, Steven Cousins, is expected to feature in the men's figure skating. Watch out also for the ice hockey, with North America's National Hockey League allowing its players to participate fully for the first time. There's round-the-clock coverage.

THAI DELIGHT

Spicy food goes a long way with the Nosh Brothers. These Thai fishcakes are easy to make and, frozen, can be kept for another day

Fish Cakes

- 1 egg
- 175ml (6floz) thick coconut cream
- 1 red pepper, deseeded and finely chopped
- 50g (2oz) thin green beans, trimmed and finely chopped
- 1 tsp green or red Thai curry paste
- 3 peeled lemon grass sticks (soft core only)
- 6 lime leaves, finely chopped
- 1 small red chilli, deseeded and finely chopped
- Sea salt
- 675g (1½lb) white fish fillets, skinned, boned and cut into chunks
- 225g (8oz) squid, cleaned and chopped
- 115g (4oz) green prawns, peeled and chopped
- Sunflower or peanut oil for frying

Method:

1. Place all the ingredients, except the fish, squid, prawns and oil, in a food processor and blend until well mixed.
2. Add the fish, squid and prawns, and process quickly.
3. Transfer the fish mixture to a bowl, cover with clingfilm and leave to rest in the refrigerator for an hour.
4. Shape the mixture into small patties and fry in 3mm (1/8 in) oil in a frying pan over a medium heat until both sides are lightly browned.
5. Place the patties on a

Thai Fishcakes on Mango Salad

foil-covered baking tray in a preheated medium-hot oven at 180C/350F/Gas Mark 4 for 4-5 minutes, until cooked right through.

6. Serve the fishcakes on a bed of mango salad with the Nam Pla Sauce.

Salad

Chinese leaves, coarsely chopped
450g (1lb) firm mango (or papaya), grated on a

mandolin 'julienne' setting
225g (8oz) cucumber julienne
115g (4oz) carrot julienne
4 small garlic cloves
4 tblsp coarsely ground roasted peanuts
4 tblsp dried shrimp, coarsely ground
2 small red chillies, deseeded and chopped
4 tomatoes, sliced
4 tblsp palm or soft brown sugar

8 tblsp fish sauce
8 tblsp lime juice
Chopped mint and coriander leaves

Method:

1. Line a serving dish with the leaves.
2. Combine all the ingredients, starting with the hardest down to the liquids.
3. Blend gently, but don't 'mush' them together. Pour over the salad leaves just before you're ready to serve.

Nam Pla Sauce

4 tblsp peanut oil
12 shallots, chopped
2 large garlic cloves
4 deseeded and chopped chillies
4 tblsp fish sauce
4 tblsp palm sugar
4 tblsp lime juice
4 tblsp chicken stock

Method:

1. Heat the oil in a small pan and fry the shallots until crisp and brown. Remove with a slotted spoon and set aside.
2. Pour off most of the oil, then return half the cooked shallots with the garlic cloves, chillies, fish sauce, palm sugar, lime juice and chicken stock.
3. Stir until the mixture becomes syrupy and the sugar has melted, then add the remaining shallots.
4. Remove from the heat and use as a warm dressing for the fishcakes.

FEBRUARY BIRTHDAYS

● 8th Jack Lemmon ● 18th John Travolta,
Yoko Ono ● 27th Elizabeth Taylor

Pisces♥♥

February 20-March 20

YOU MIGHT have to tailor your own needs to suit the requirements of family members. At times this month you may be caught between duty and desire, but you will have no hesitation in making sacrifices for loved ones.

Aries♥♥

March 21-April 20

YOUR RELATIONSHIPS may be on an even keel, but you will sidestep commitment wherever possible this month. Some of you may communicate on a strictly superficial level, while others try to control their loved ones.

Taurus♥♥

April 21-May 21

YOUR LESSON this month, Taurus, is to remain flexible in the face of changing circumstances. With unpredictable star patterns, you would be well-advised to leave plans open-ended and put your prejudices aside.

Gemini♥♥♥

May 22-June 21

THINGS WILL begin to go your way during this month of expansion and opportunity. For some of you, there may be a business deal to consider and negotiate. Others will revel in a new romance or revitalised relationship.

Cancer♥♥

June 22-July 23

USE YOUR powers of persuasion to sway someone over to your way of thinking. You are destined to be in a happier emotional position in the weeks ahead, but you need to foster a spirit of co-operation between people.

Leo♥♥♥

July 24-August 23

ONE HAPPY period in your life may be over, but another exciting phase is about to unfold. This month you will attract quirky people who enjoy discussing alternative ideas and thumb their noses at convention.

Virgo♥♥

August 24-September 23

WORK. YOUR daily routine and long-distance relationships show up in your chart this month, Virgos. Remote places and faraway people will beckon for some, while others may rekindle a relationship that faded last year.

Libra♥♥

September 24-October 23

YOUR FIRST instinct may be to jump headlong into a situation without thinking. And while you may be buoyed by enthusiasm and passion, you will probably lack common sense. Pause to consider the impact of your actions.

Scorpio♥

October 24-November 22

YOUR ETHICS could come into question, or you will have to defend your reputation. And the most likely area of conflict looks like being in the domestic domain. You may be on a different wavelength to your partner this month.

Sagittarius♥♥

November 23-December 22

THE PACE of your life will quicken, thanks to a boost in energy from fiery Mars. Someone who knows their own mind may strike a chord, inspiring you to set your sights higher, and the two of you will make a great double-act.

Capricorn♥♥

December 23-January 20

YOUR WORK ethic remains as strong as ever, but you should not neglect the emotional and spiritual side of life. Try to find an outlet socially, spend some time outdoors, or seek ways to improve personal relationships.

Aquarius♥♥♥

January 21-February 19

THERE ARE romantic vibes for your sign this month, with one liaison having a major impact. Mercury in your sign makes you self-assured and a good communicator, traits that are bound to make you very attractive to others.

is at your service 24-hours-a-day - so watch when you can and tape when you can't. All you need is an item number. Call free phone on 0800-50-40-30 at any time. Today's highlight is Collectable Dolls at 6.00pm.

FILM

Don't Look in the Basement
HVC 11.15pm

When you're told not to do something, you invariably do it anyway. This horror film, with William McGee and Annie MacAdams, has a new spin on that old adage, after the director of an insane asylum is murdered by one of the inmates. The killing doesn't stop there, however, as the patients then overpower their keepers before tormenting new victims in the shadowy corridors of the asylum. Don't look at it alone!

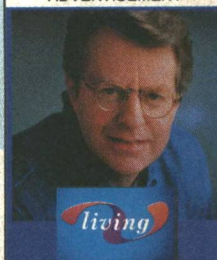

GENERAL

Agony

Granada Plus 1.30pm
Maureen Lipman has been one of this country's most vibrant comic talents for many years and this sitcom from the late Seventies was one of her highspots, as Jane Lucas, agony aunt. She can hand out the advice to others, but her own life is a mess - and what a mess! There's her psychiatrist husband, boss, mother, secretary, freaky DJ pal and two gay neighbours, who all drive her crazy. One of the writers was real-life agony aunt Anna Raeburn.

GENERAL

Almost Perfect
Paramount Comedy Channel 8.30pm

The delicious Nancy (Three Men and a Baby) Travis is a fast-rising exec on a top TV cop show who finally meets Mr Right, Kevin (Home Alone 3, Earth: Final Conflict) Kilner, a crime-fighting district attorney. But, wouldn't you know it, the meeting happens just as her career goes into overdrive. The quick-witted repartee between the couple keeps both them and the audience happy throughout this series.

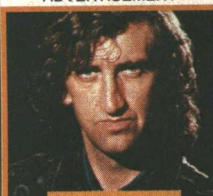

SPORT

AAA Indoor Athletics Championships
Sky Sports 3 8.00pm

The Birmingham Indoor Arena plays host to the annual championships, where domestic records are set to be broken and reputations are forged in one of the premier events in British athletics. The British team for the forthcoming European Indoor Championships, to be held in Valencia at the end of the month, will be selected from the results of this event, which tests competitors in both track and field events.

Fever pitch

FANS of football-based soap Dream Team are witnessing an unusual match as Mandy (Annelies Lovell) continues to show more than a motherly interest in her step-son, Warren (Clinton Kenyon). But what will Kenny – Mandy's husband and Warren's dad – do when he comes out of prison to find his wife has been playing away? 'Mandy's a fantastic character to play,' says Annelies (left). 'She's a strong single mother who, unfortunately, is married to the wrong man, Kenny. Things get very tense when he returns from prison, believe me.'

The story so far ... Simon O'Brien

REMEMBER Brookside's Damon Grant, Sheila and Bobby's youngest son, played by Simon O'Brien? He was one of the original members of the soap before being killed off in 1987. But 32-year-old Simon (above) has hardly been off our screens since. He presented the BBC footie series Standing Room Only, The Big Breakfast and the travel show The Rough Guide – now that's what you call versatile. Next, O'Brien will present Discovery Channel's DIY programme, The Close Guide, which begins second series next month.

Soap bubbles ...

'FRIENDS' star Courteney Cox got her first break in As the World Turns. She played a debutante and had only one line. Says Courteney: 'I had to say, "You look really ... sizzling." That was it. Sizzling.'

WATCH out for the return of the sizzling hot Melrose Place on Sky this summer. Pin-up Heather Locklear, who plays man-eating Amanda Woodward, is leaving the show to have a baby but her pregnancy will be written into the storyline.

'DREAM TEAM' star Daymon Britton, who plays soccer ace Sean Hocknell, has a famous relative – Soldier, Soldier star Robson Green is his uncle.

FILM

The Hunger
 TNT 11.30pm

An unusual love triangle as David Bowie and Catherine Deneuve play a couple of vampires in New York who must kill to retain their youth. David knows that he is growing older by the minute and decides to visit a doctor who specialises in ageing, Susan Sarandon, for some advice. Later, Susan is seduced by Catherine and starts to develop vampire symptoms of her own. A visually stunning film, by Tony Scott (who went on to direct Top Gun), with bite.

The Oprah Winfrey Show
 Sky One 8.15am

Everybody's favourite living Beatle, Sir Paul McCartney, joins Oprah Winfrey in New York to talk about a whole range of serious topics. These include his marriage and relationship with Linda, who has recently recovered from cancer and being a father (with one of his children, Stella, now making her own headlines as a top fashion designer). The highlight, however, is the performance of songs from his most recent album, Flaming Pie.

Alien Nation: Body and Soul
Sky Movies Screen 1
 9.00pm

This is the premiere of the latest science fiction adventure about aliens and humans co-existing on earth. A human detective and his alien partner (known as a Newcomer) are uneasy together because of their obvious differences, particularly as the alien is the first to rise so high in the force. On this assignment, the pair must deal with an enigmatic child who may be the key to unravelling a sinister and illegal experiment. A second Alien Nation film follows for devotees.

GENERAL Biography

The History Channel
 7.00pm

This is a profile of one of the most feared dictators the world has ever seen. Joseph Stalin, who died in 1953, ruled an empire that stretched halfway across the world and, despite being responsible for having tens of millions of innocent people murdered or sent to forced labour camps, was revered as a godlike father figure. The latest of many insightful portraits to come from this noteworthy series.

FILM

A Passage to India

UK Arena 9.00pm

You don't want to miss a David Lean film and here's his final, great one, set in the India of 1928 and adapted from the novel by EM Forster (the source of two other successful screen adaptations, A Room With a View and Howards End). The story has many sub-plots and is beautifully photographed, with an Academy Award-winning performance by Dame Peggy Ashcroft. But its major themes are sexual repression and racial prejudice, which are played out with wondrous understatement by a cast that also includes Victor Banerjee, Alec Guinness and Judy Davis.

GENERAL

Pop-up Video VH-1 5.30pm

When I see a music video I like, there are often questions in my mind, such as 'How did they do that?', 'Why make it look like this?', 'I wonder how much this cost?' and 'What the heck is going on here?' Now here's the show that helps answer all those questions and also gives you the lowdown on the videos that everybody's talking about, from Oasis to the Spice Girls.

Friday continues overleaf...

FILM

Independence Day

Sky Movies Screen 2

8.05pm

Premiere of one of the sci-fi blockbusters of the past few years, and it'll have you whoopin' and hollerin' on the sofa – so long as you can accept the cutesy 'America-the-beautiful' script, personified by Bill Pullman's leading-from-the-front US President. When an alien ship heads for earth, only techy Jeff Goldblum really knows what's going on. After he combines with fighter pilot Will Smith, the good guys suddenly have the ability to overcome even the nastiest of space monsters. Some great one-liners too!

GENERAL

Mistresses

UK Horizons 9.00pm
 Maybe not the most romantic celebration of Valentine's Day, but still a fascinating one, as three programmes are shown about mistresses. It's a topic that attracts our attention whoever is involved, be they royalty, showbiz stars or even our neighbours. The three shows have no presenter or narrator, just the frank views of the people involved in these love triangles.

Test The Amazing 8½lb ORECK On FREE 15 Day Home Trial!

One of the lightest,
most efficient
full size
vacuums
available

Oreck, the vacuum chosen by 50,000 hotels and 1 million homes in the USA since 1963.

So many commercial organisations insist on the lightweight Oreck XL to clean up in hotels, restaurants, conference halls and even sports arenas. Why? Because it's powerful, lightweight and incredibly durable.

Why is the Oreck so efficient?

Because pile-lifting roller brushes with 11,000 bristles spin at 6,500 rpm and deliver up to 70 million strokes a minute.

This means when the Oreck sets to work on your carpet, it tackles the most stubbornly ingrained dirt and even adjusts automatically to bare floors.

Pollen, pet hairs, dust and dust mites

The Oreck's filtration system traps 99.4% of microscopic particles as small as 0.1 micron.

3 year guarantee

Comprehensive UK after-sales service

FREE 15 day trial in your own home

The supplier of this product is: Salestrac Ltd, Cowley Bridge Road, Exeter, Devon EX4 5HQ as agent for Oreck Corporation.

Ingenious "top-fill" action

Conventional cleaners draw dirt through the bottom of the bag constantly churning up old dirt. But the Oreck uses its hollow handle to pump dirt into the top of the bag, gently laying it down upon the previous layer. Yesterdays dirt cannot seep out.

House cleaning will be easier – or your money back!

Being incredibly lightweight it is easier to lift, push, and to pull. In fact, the air-glide system practically pushes it for you. The handle is orthopaedically designed and can help those with painful joint disorders of the hand or wrist.

FREE worth £79 – the amazing hand-held super compact vac with the twin turbo motor. It weighs only 4lbs, yet has immense power. It's designed as a companion to the upright vac for all those awkward places such as upholstery, curtains, stairs, radiators and car interiors. It comes complete with 9 attachments.

A Walton's Easter

Sky Movies Screen 1
7.00pm
 OK, it's a little early for Easter, but it's never the wrong time to watch John Boy and the Walton family pour out another dose of homespun philosophy. Here the Waltons have been reunited for the 40th wedding anniversary of John and Olivia. John Boy (Richard Thomas) and his heavily pregnant wife are visiting from New York, but the first of many surprises comes when his sister returns home - for good. A good opportunity to catch up with the country clan, who haven't been seen regularly on the small screen since 1982.

"Cinderella"

you shall go to the ball

When we're little, few things influence us more than fairy tales and the most romantic fairy tale of them all is "Cinderella". Close your eyes for a moment and with the help of The Ashton-Drake Galleries you can be transported to a magical faraway world, where almost anything becomes possible.

"Cinderella" is crafted of the finest bisque porcelain, with delicately blushed cheeks and carefully applied eyelashes. The artist, Brigitte Deval, has created a wonderful shimmering blue dress of satin and lace which is adorned with braids, ribbons and "jewels." What's more... "Cinderella" is even wearing a tiny pair of "glass" slippers.

RETURN YOUR ORDER FORM TODAY!

"Cinderella" can live happily ever after in your home for just £69.96. But hurry... this hand-crafted doll is issued in an edition exclusive to The Ashton-Drake Galleries Ltd. To order her, simply complete and return the Order Form below.

GENERAL When Animals Attack II

Sky One 9.00pm

Tabloid real-life TV
which shows incredible
footage of a wolf mauling
a three-year-old boy,
a bear going after a
San Diego Zoo visitor
and a shark attacking
a lifeguard who happens
to be six months pregnant
It's grizzly but compulsive,
as Robert Ulrich once
again hosts this unpredictable – and
often deadly – show
about our relationship with animals. The hour
of footage includes advice
from experts and animal
activists on how to deal with these potentially deadly creatures.

Scottish Open

Snooker – LIVE

Sky Sports 3 2.00pm
and 7.00pm

Stephen Hendry came home to Scotland and won this title last year with an emphatic victory over Malta's Tony Drago. The event was the first ranked snooker tournament to be held at the fabulous
Aberdeen Exhibition and Conference Centre. There are plenty of young
hopefuls after Hendry's
crown this year and
you can watch the
action live all week.

FILM

Walking Thunder
HVC 8.00pm

It's 1850 and a young man, Danny McKay, is tired of his father's boring
pioneer ways.

He wants to become a mountain man and soon
gets a chance to try the lifestyle when his family's wagon is destroyed by
an enormous bear.

The young man has to help the family fight the winter snows and finds help from an Indian medicine man and a
local mountain man.
The film stars the late
John Denver, in a rare
film role.

Footprints Pendant

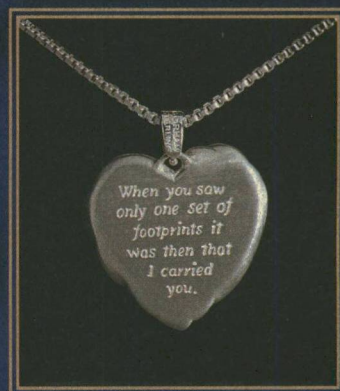

He whispered, "My precious child, I love you and will never leave you... when you saw one set of footprints it was then that I carried you".

Shown larger than actual size of 1 1/2" (29mm) in height including clasp.

The poem "Footprints" has given comfort and hope to millions all over the world. With simplicity and tenderness, its words evoke a powerful image of God carrying us through troubled times. Now, Brooks & Bentley is proud to announce Footprints, an elegant new pendant inscribed with the timeless message of love from this beautiful poem.

Hand-crafted in full sterling silver and plated in 18 carat gold, Footprints is adorned with sculpted waves framing a single trail of footprints on a sandy beach. And on the reverse, a delicate inscription captures the very spirit of this famous poem. The result is a pendant sure to be treasured for its distinctive style as well as a heartfelt symbol of faith.

Inscription on reverse. Shown actual size.

Complete with a 20" (51cm) sterling silver chain, Footprints is available exclusively from Brooks & Bentley at the issue price of just £48.00* per pendant, payable in three interest free monthly instalments. To acquire your pendant, please return the reservation form by 28th February, 1998. Or telephone 01732 361122 today to secure your order. You need send no money now.

FILM

Psychomania

Sci-Fi Channel 10.00pm

From 1971 comes this bizarre British horror film in which a young biker gang leader makes a pact with the devil and uses it to win himself eternal life. The rest of his gang fancy the same deal, but they have to kill themselves first and that's not as easy as it sounds. Look out for an array of British stars, all looking slightly out of place, including Nicky Henson, Robert Hardy, Beryl Reid and Bill Pertwee.

GENERAL

Auf Wiedersehen, Pet

Carlton Select 10.00pm

Another chance to see the exploits of a group of three Geordie brickeys who go off to Germany to find work and hook up with other ex-pats in Düsseldorf. This episode finds Denis (Tim Healy) trying to find himself a spot of privacy, but with little success. And with the likes of Oz (Jimmy Nail), Wayne (Gary Holton) and Barry (Timothy Spall) around, it's no wonder that there was no privacy to be found. A truly classic series, created by Dick Clement, Ian La Frenais and Franc Roddam.

Dustmen making a team effort in 'Common as Muck': UK Gold 9.00pm

FILM

Mr Holland's Opus
Sky Movies Screen 1
 9.00pm
 A real weepy this one, about would-be composer Glenn Holland (Richard Dreyfuss), who turns to teaching music in a local school even though he'd rather be writing his own symphony. He needs an income in order to support himself and his wife (played by Glenn Headley), but he struggles to work with students who don't care for classical music. Events take a dramatic turn with the birth of his son and the realisation that he can find a way to influence the lives of his pupils.

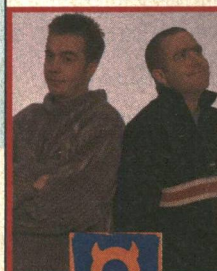

An uplifting drama which hits all the right notes and earned Dreyfuss a well-deserved Oscar nomination.

GENERAL

Jazz Greats
Performance 8.00pm
 This week, the series on the kings of jazz is presented by Wynton Marsalis, one of the most popular contemporary trumpeters. And it's the jazz trumpet that he spotlights, with men like Louis Armstrong, Dizzy Gillespie and Miles Davis all being featured for their virtuosity.

Screamers
Sky Movies Screen 2
10.00pm

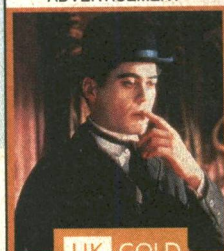

The eternal theme of man's search for peace is the focus of this sci-fi horror film premiere. Peter Weller plays Colonel Hendrickson, the commander of a handful of soldiers who are still alive on the planet Sirius 6B. War-weary and embittered, Hendrickson realises that he must try to negotiate peace with his long-term enemies. But his mission involves battling with a terrifying weapon - the Screamers, blade-wielding killing machines set to destroy all forms of human life.

GENERAL

The Hunger
Sci-Fi Channel 10.00pm
A new series of 30-minute dramas that are directed by some of Hollywood's top names, focusing on the bizarre, the sexy and the paranormal. This episode is directed by Russell (Highlander) Mulcahy and tells the story of a young man who visits a village fair for excitement and tries to win the attention of a stunning young woman he sees in the company of a withered old man.

The Irish RM

Carlton Select 6.00pm
Peter Bowles carries this comedy/drama series, based on the turn-of-the-century novel by Edith Somerville, about an accident-prone British magistrate, Major Sinclair Yeates, in 19th-century Ireland. With a strong Irish cast, tonight's episode features our beleaguered law enforcer being made responsible for the local games in Shreelane. Needless to say, all does not go well for our hapless hero.

FILM

Kingpin

Sky Movies Screen 1 9.00pm

From the makers of Dumb and Dumber comes this equally infantile, and equally funny, comedy. Woody Harrelson stars as a down-at-heel, ex-professional tenpin bowler whose luck changes when he meets an ace amateur bowler, Randy Quaid, who just happens to be Amish. It's all done in the worst possible taste and Bill Murray contributes a strong cameo as Harrelson's bowling nemesis. Look out for some of the worst haircuts ever seen in Hollywood.

GENERAL

Murder Call

Living 8.00pm

A brand new drama with a Nineties high-tech feel, but a Forties retro charm, which helps you follow the detective work of Tessa and Steve. She has a knack of putting all the pieces of the murder together while he is the hard-working partner who makes things happen. Every show in this Australian series is a murder puzzle, so budding sleuths will have fun searching for clues.

Prisoners Out of Control

Sky One 9.00pm

Prisoner: Cell Block H was never like this! A one-hour documentary special which reveals the underbelly of prison life around the world. Through the use of video footage and exclusive interviews with correctional officers, viewers will witness how tough it is to keep things under control behind prison walls.

SPORT

ATP Tour Tennis

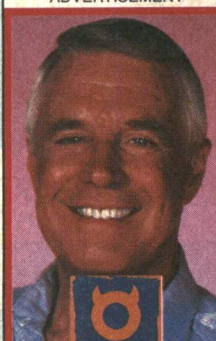

Eurosport 6.00pm

Hopefully, Britain's tennis heroes Greg Rusedski and Tim Henman will line up this week in a new indoor tournament from London - the Guardian Direct Cup at Battersea Park. Second day recorded action from the event, which goes on through the week.

The home crowd should provide a great atmosphere for our boys, who harbour realistic ambitions of winning here.

Art that transcends time.

THE MINIATURE CLOCK OF TUTANKHAMUN

A museum-quality Collector's Edition time-piece, adorned with genuine hieroglyphs.

The style is priceless. The most revered artefact ever discovered – The Mask of Tutankhamun – re-created as a spectacular clock. Every feature of the pharaoh's likeness captured in Tesori porcelain, a blend of powdered porcelain and resins that holds every intricate detail. Hand-painted in Egyptian colours that blend perfectly with the elegant clock face. And decorated with genuine Egyptian hieroglyphs that proclaim the proverb "Time waits for no one."

Priced at just £49.50, payable in convenient monthly instalments. This hand-numbered Collector's Edition miniature clock is available exclusively from Franklin Mint.

Satisfaction Guaranteed. If you wish to return any Franklin Mint purchase, you may do so within 30 days of your receipt of that purchase for replacement, credit or refund.

Below are nine prizes won recently in consumer competitions. All you have to do is find them and ring them in the wordsearch panel. They may read right to left, left to right, up, down or diagonally. But – there is a tenth. A mystery prize. Find it and enter it in the Winners Entry Form below and that £5,000 could be yours. The first correct entry drawn on March 16th 1998 will be the winner, who will be notified by post within seven days. Lists of winners will be freely available upon request.

Your first step towards a Peugeot 106 . . . a £60,000 cottage in France . . . a fabulous family fortnight in Florida?

How did you find the Wordsearch? Not too difficult? Then congratulations, you have all the qualifications to become a PRO-WINNER, the kind of person we want. We know from experience that only an elite 2% or fewer of the population will correctly complete and return the entry form. You could be well on your way to winning such super prizes as that Peugeot, that fabulous cottage or family holiday.

These are just three of the HUNDREDS won recently by members of Competitors Companion. And our members often win time and time again. Like Miss L.P. "I've had so many wins, I hardly know where to begin telling you about them," she wrote. Her latest? A Peugeot 106. Jocelyn P. won 42 prizes in one year, including six luxury holidays and two diamond rings worth £3,000. Rita S' £500,000 worth of prizes (yes, half a million) won her the title of Queen Of The Competitions in the national press. Leo C. of Liverpool has won three cars and an Aladdin's Cave of other goodies.

What is the reason for our members' dramatic success? Because as a member of CC each month you will receive details of every competition worth winning in Britain – we even supply the solutions! Then there are hints and tips . . . your questions answered . . . secrets of success . . . more winners' letters and all the fun and excitement of the world of "comping". It is estimated that the total value of prizes on offer in Britain every year now exceeds £150 MILLION! Want to be sure of your share? Return that coupon NOW!

£150 MILLION

IN THE COMING 12 MONTHS

That's the estimated value of hundreds of top prizes, including luxury holidays in the worlds most exotic places - from Florida to the Himalaya's.

PLUS CARS BY THE DOZEN...

10 Fiat Puntos, 10 Rovers, a BMW, 20 Mazda MX5's, 10 Vauxhall Corsa's

And thousands of other prizes, like 3 fitted kitchens, 1,000 Nikon cameras, TV sets, video recorders & Cash, Cash, Cash, including 2 first prizes of £1,000,000 each!

THERE'S NEVER BEEN A BETTER TIME TO JOIN THE "CLUB OF WINNERS"!

The prizes just keep getting bigger and better!

WHY BUY THEM, WE SAY, WHEN

YOU CAN WIN THEM!

And this is our promise

WIN AT LEAST ONE PRIZE -

OR PAY US NOTHING!

FILM

Out of Darkness
HVC 9.45pm

This biopic starring Malcolm McDowell looks at the life of Albert Schweitzer, who achieved more in his early years - doctor, philosopher, humanitarian - than almost any of his contemporaries. But he wanted to serve mankind even more and so journeyed to the heart of Africa with his wife - played by Susan Strasberg - to befriend and learn from the native Africans.

Cheers
Paramount Comedy Channel 9.00pm

This incredibly successful comedy series needs to be watched again, just to see how far ahead of its time it was. Tonight Sam (Ted Danson) and Diane (Shelley Long) dine out with Frasier (Kelsey Grammer) and his new girlfriend Lilith (Bebe Neuwirth) - who just happened to become his wife later on in the series. Meanwhile, Cliff (John Ratzenberger) baby-sits for Carla (Rhea Perlman). Great script, great characters.

FILM

Celtic Pride
Sky Movies Screen 1
9.00pm

Premiere of a sports comedy about two obsessive fans of the Boston Celtics basketball team who will do anything for their boys. Daniel (Home Alone) Stern and Dan (Blues Brothers) Aykroyd want one little thing – for their team to win the NBA championships. But when Utah Jazz look set to scupper their chances with their star player, Lewis Scott (played by Damon Wayans), the two super fans take matters into their own hands with a kidnapping.

SPORT

Athletics – LIVE
Eurosport 8.30am and 3.00pm

The European Indoor Championships start today in Valencia, Spain, and there's plenty of live coverage over the next three days. British athletes are usually among the medals and it's often the up-and-coming talents who get the glory, so watch out for some success from our young male sprinters.

FILM

Brit Pack
HVC 9.40pm

An unusual film about football and its fans, set during the 1994 World Cup in America. It's a kind of The Commitments meets Chariots of Fire, as the Brit pack's mixture of hooligans, sex-starved women and even undercover cops make a fateful ten-day tour of the tournament. It's not your typical feel-good Hollywood sports movie with a happy ending. Gripping stuff.

SPORT

Football Special – LIVE

Sky Sports 1 10.30am
 Chelsea and Manchester United are almost certainly the best two teams in England, so any chance to see them do battle should be taken. The 5-3 drubbing that Chelsea suffered in the FA Cup third round last month should add extra spice to this morning encounter, which probably represents the Blues' last chance of tripping up the defending champions and denying them yet another Premiership title.

Ball: Le Corsaire
An exotic tale of pirates and shipwrecks. Scenic effects and dramatic choreography have ensured the popularity of Marius Petipa's ballet, performed here by the Kirov.
9.00 Opera: Falstaff
Verdi's joyous swansong, based on Shakespeare's The Merry Wives of Windsor. Conducted by the great maestro Carlo Maria Giulini, from the Royal Opera House, Covent Garden. Falstaff, which was first performed in 1889, is typical of Verdi's work - direct, noble and intense.
Verdi died in 1901.

COMPETITION

WIN A SCI-FI FAMILY HOLIDAY TO FLORIDA!

A trip to the Kennedy Space Centre, Florida, is a must for tourists. Insets: top, Cocoa Beach, Florida, and 'The Cape' star Corbin Bernsen

SCI-FI CHANNEL
THE CAPE
Weekdays 9.00pm
Saturdays 7.00pm
Sundays 3.00pm

SCI-FI Channel's space soap The Cape blasted off last month; now we're giving you another chance to win a fantastic trip for four to Florida - including a visit to the Kennedy Space Centre where the series is filmed. The Cape stars LA Law's Corbin Bernsen and follows the fortunes of astronauts striving to balance the rigours of space exploration with love, lust and life back on earth. The Sci-Fi Channel is offering one lucky reader the chance to win the fantastic week-long holiday for four (two adults, two children under 16) to Orlando, Florida. The prize includes seven nights' accommodation in a luxury family room at the Quality Inn International hotel, a week's car hire and a VIP visit to the Kennedy Space Centre.

TO ENTER SCI-FI'S EXCLUSIVE COMPETITION, JUST ANSWER THIS QUESTION:
Q. NAME THE ACTRESS WHO PLAYS CORBIN BERNSEN'S WIFE IN THE CAPE?

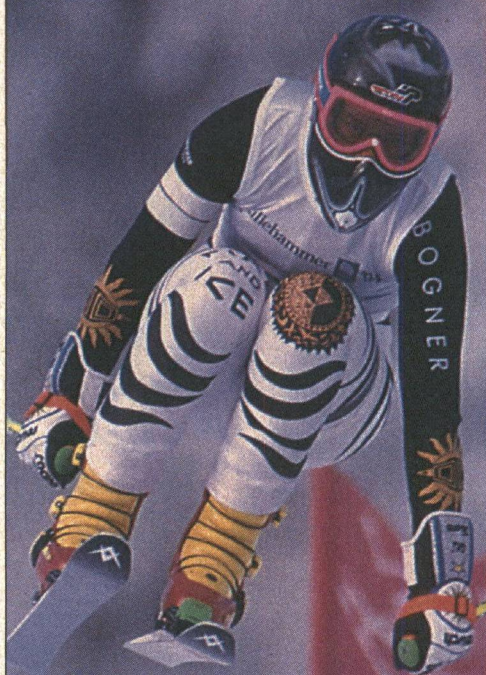

Send your answer with your name and address on a postcard to: Sci-Fi Channel (The Cape), 77 Charlotte Street, London W1P 2DD. Closing date: 27 February 1998. The first correct entry drawn at random wins.

COMPETITION RULES

1. The prize includes: return flights from London to Orlando; seven nights' accommodation in a family room; a week's car hire; and a visit to the Kennedy Space Centre. The prize does not include transportation to the airport, travel insurance, meals or any other expenses incurred.
2. Competition open to all UK residents aged 18 years or over. Entrants must hold any travel documents or visas if required and are responsible for the acquisition of any documents required.
3. All travel is carried out at the individual's own risk. The Sci-Fi Channel accepts no liability for circumstances beyond its control.
4. There is no cash alternative to the prize. All bookings are subject to availability. The prize must be taken by 31 December 1998.
5. In the event that a prizewinner, for whatever reason, is unable to take up the prize, Cable Guide/Sci-Fi reserves the right to award the prize to a runner-up. Cable Guide/Sci-Fi accepts no responsibility to provide the original prizewinner with any form of replacement.
6. Unless otherwise stated, a competition will be won by an eligible person who has submitted a correct entry on or before the closing date. The winning entry will be drawn at random by the judges. The Editor's decision is final in all matters relating to Cable Guide competitions.
7. No employee of Cable Guide, the Sci-Fi Channel or related companies shall be eligible to enter.
8. Cable Guide/Sci-Fi accept no responsibility for lost, damaged or unidentified entries. Proof of postage is not proof of delivery.
9. Winners may be asked to be involved in publicity.

Make way: should Sabrina stay out of the early slots?

Holiday blues

I'M A full-time mother of two young children under the age of five. Most of the time I find the choice of programmes for youngsters excellent. But why is it that during every school holiday the under-fives are ignored? During term time I'm so grateful for Nick Jr on Nickelodeon, and Honey Pot and Sesame Street on Disney Channel – they give me breathing space to get on with housework, knowing my children are occupied and amused. But, come the holidays, all these shows are shelved! Couldn't we have a compromise? Wouldn't it be a good idea, for instance, to move programmes like Clarissa, Sabrina the Teenage Witch and The Wonder Years to afternoon slots and keep mid-morning to mid-afternoon for youngsters?

J Hunt, Stockport

● Disney Channel replies: 'Our research shows that over-fives do want to watch live action comedies in the late morning during school holidays and we feel we have to cater for them. That said, we appreciate your comments and we remain committed to our under-fives programming at all other times.'

Battle of the sexes

I STRONGLY disagree with Lorna Irvine's letter [January] that there is too much sexism on some cable channels. She forgets that many of the programmes on cable are aimed at women and women's interests. In particular, there are a large number of 'chat' and human interest shows. The sort of programmes for men which she criticises only redress the balance and demonstrate the strength of cable television – that it appeals to all interests. Live and let live!

David Bennington, Middlesex

Music maestro

SINCE I got cable, I've been an avid fan of Red Shoe Diaries and never missed any of the films. So you can imagine how chuffed I was to see the series come to the Bravo channel. Please can you tell me the name of the piece of music they use for the seductive scenes. I've scanned the credits but it's not mentioned.

I Fisher, Bedford, Middlesex

● The music is composed by George S Clinton but, as far as we know, the piece you refer to has no particular title. You can hear some of Clinton's other work in such films as 'Mortal Kombat' and 'Austin Powers: International Man of Mystery'.

Mammy's boy

I'D LIKE to thank cable TV for showing two wonderful Jolson films, The Jolson Story and Jolson Sings Again. Al Jolson was truly a great performer and had such a god-given voice. Ivan Waterman's comments [January Screen Trends] that he was a womaniser and a megalomaniac, and how The Jolson Story was the biggest whitewash in Tinseltown history, were so unnecessary. Everyone knew that the film was not true to life. When these two films hit the UK in particular, they were box office hits for two reasons: they had the most wonderful voice of Al Jolson; and the truly heart-warming entertainment which is so sadly missing in most of today's films. Surely Ivan Waterman could have taken time in his column to remind people what a great singer Al Jolson really was. And another thing, Ivan, Larry Parks did not win an Oscar for his portrayal of the great man, as you say in your comments, although he was put up for it.

Mr Clive Morton, Bristol
● Congratulations! You win our £5 prize.

Title race still alive

I WAS watching Sky News on Sunday 4 January, and heard a report on the Chelsea and Manchester United FA Cup tie. The Sky reporter said, 'Now that Chelsea are out of the FA Cup, it will be a one-horse race for the League and the Cup.' I was disgusted with that. I am a Blackburn Rovers fan and Blackburn were second in the Premiership and still in the FA Cup. Also, Newcastle, Arsenal and Liverpool were all still in with a chance in the League. In the FA Cup, there are many teams with a chance.

Mark Kennedy, Blackburn

Fighting talk

ON SEVERAL occasions you have advertised the film Somebody Up There Likes Me as a biopic of Rocky Marciano, former World Heavyweight Champion. Could we have it right in future please? The film features the life of Rocky Graziano, former World Middleweight Champion.

Mr J Bolton, Oldbury

Bravo for Bravo

I AM writing in reply to the letter in the January issue of Cable Guide concerning Bravo's new look. Bravo used to be just a nostalgic channel which showed programmes like Starsky and Hutch. But since the change it has become a far more exciting channel due to the fact that it is now concentrating on movies and programmes that contain high levels of violence, sex and bad language, but presenting them with a great sense of humour. The horned logo was a great idea and the accompanying clips of grenades in rabbit hutches and goldfish in blenders had me in hysterics, plus the Redemption introductions are the best things I have ever seen on TV. Bravo are supplying the public with something they can't get anywhere else. Down with the goldfish, hail to the horned one.

James Taylor, Telford

Out for blood

ENJOYING the first UK screening of Buffy the Vampire Slayer [Sky One], which I was also recording, I was astonished when the Lottery result appeared on screen, totally ruining the first episode of this brilliant series. The Lottery result was known before the show began, so why did Sky wait 20 minutes?

Kenni Dodd, Scotland

● Sky One replies: 'Viewers want to know the Lottery result and we like to provide them with this service. We reveal the winning numbers as soon as technically possible, which is why they appear during the programme. It is, however, only on screen for a few seconds.'

Monstrous: 'Buffy the Vampire Slayer' is 'ruined' by the Lottery

Metal fatigue

I AM writing to complain about the scheduling on VH1 on Friday 2 January – namely dropping The Friday Rock Show without explanation. Having waited over an hour to see it, I was appalled to find it cancelled. Us metal fans get little enough media air time as it is, with VH1's The Friday Rock Show and MTV's Super Rock being the only TV shows dedicated to this music. Why then cut one of these when it had been advertised, especially after cutting it on 26 December as well?

Miss H Whitworth, Birmingham

● VH-1 replies: 'There was a last-minute change in the schedules which, due to early Christmas deadlines, meant incorrect information appeared in some magazines. We apologise for the inconvenience. Our commitment to heavy metal is as strong as ever. In the near future, for example, we'll be screening specials on the likes of Van Halen and Joe Satriani.'

Stars in her eyes

I'D LIKE to congratulate you on your wonderful Cable Guide. I enjoy reading it through the month, but especially the Love Stars by Margie Thillart. Ever since you have included it, I have always rushed to open the Guide to read the stars. I can't possibly go through a month without it.

Jackie, East Kilbride, Glasgow

NEXT MONTH IN CABLE GUIDE!

There are more mysterious cases in store for Scully and Mulder in the new series of The X Files, and hold onto your hats as the blockbuster movie Twister storms onto the screen.

"A PERSONAL LOAN OVER THE PHONE? HERE'S A GUIDE"

HOW DO I APPLY?

Believe me, a low-rate loan from Lombard Direct couldn't be easier to apply for. You are welcome to apply for a loan if you:

- are aged between 18 and 65
- have a bank or building society current account
- are resident in the UK mainland
- do not have any County Court Judgments against you.

Call us free on 0800-2-15000. We'll ask a few more questions about your home, work, bank or building society, income and outgoings. And we'll usually give you a decision there and then. It's that simple.

WHAT'S A TYPICAL EXAMPLE?

For a loan of £4,000 repayable over 36 months, each monthly repayment would be £134.94. The total amount payable would be £4,857.84. APR 13.9%.

For a little extra each month, we offer a Repayment Protection Plan. The 'RPP' covers your repayments in the event of accident, illness or even redundancy.
